Yahoo Group Archive: cintari

Yahoo Group summary: Cin'tari - Place for old Cin'tari Atari members to meet.

These Yahoo Groups messages were archived in WARC format by ArchiveTeam in 2016. This PDF was generated by Kay Savetz in 2026.

Date span: 2001-01-18 through 2015-11-24

Source WARC: cintari.wsfARMQ.warc.gz

Source item: https://archive.org/details/yahoo-groups-2016-12-03T00-13-11Z-92b000

Messages included in this PDF: 277

Yahoo replaced the domain portions of email addresses with @... in the archived messages. Characters lost in Yahoo's archived text appear as ?.

Messages are presented in ascending Yahoo message-ID order. Gaps indicate records absent from the source WARC or messages omitted from this PDF as spam.

1. Cin'tari

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-18 02:28:41 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 1

Welcome to the Yahoo! Message Board for Cin'tari

2. Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-18 02:36:23 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 2

Welcome old Cin'tari members! Hopefully we can all catch up on all those years since we use to meet in the basement at the Star Bank!

If you know of any Cin'tari members out there, please contact them and let them know about this club. It would be nice to get as many members in here as we can. I'm curious what everyone is up to!

Mike Hill
mhill@...

3. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-18 22:47:53 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 3

hey Mike, I'm here! I tried a few times to get a meeting going, but something always fouled it up. I'm in contact with a few old members. Bruce, Dave Pennkamp, and gunboat...I'll pass the word along, although Bruce led me to this. this is a great idea....I looked into putting a online bbs up once, but too much money. this is a good substitute. nice to see you are still out there!

Bob

4. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-19 02:35:20 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 4

Bob,

Glad you could make it. I have been in touch with about 5 other old Cin'tari members. I am hoping those people will be able to contact others (as Bruce did with you).

Be nice to hear what everyone is up to.

I know Bruce said he finally abandoned the Atari about 3 years ago. When did you (if you have)?

If you did move on, do you still have your old Atari stuff setup?

I'm curious how many people still have their Atari's.

Myself I got rid of my Atari TT and all the hardware around 6-7 years ago. I still have an old Atari 800 and 800xl, couple drives. Have lots of software for both the ST and 8-bit filed away.

Ive been using emulators on the PC when I feel nostalgic to play with the old ST and 8-bit stuff.

Mike

5. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-19 03:11:56 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 5

hey Mike, I saw msg 4 and read the header info, but when I clicked on the message it didn't seem to be there. Maybe I'm not doing something right, but not sure. it didn't get deleted did it?

Bob

6. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-19 03:21:59 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 6

Mike,

I figured out what I was doing wrong earlier, and read your message.

I still have my Atari computer , I have a 1040STe which some of the older software won't run. I'm still going to pick up some more Atari stuff.

sure I have a modern computer, I had a pentium SONY and now have a Pentium 3 hewlard packard, 600mhz.

Like you, I still like the old nostalgia of the Atari.

I have also a Atari monitor, a thompson monitor, 800xl, atari 800 a 1050 drive and all the old software still.

Bob

7. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-20 07:45:13 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 7

I still have all of the Atari's I have owned, plus a bunch more I aquired along the way. I also have all the software still. My most recent purchase was a new Lynx II with a bunch of games really cheap from some link I got from Ebay for a company that was closing them out.

I see Jaguar's every now and then used, I wonder if Doug Ashton still has his? It is rare to see a TT on Ebay or anywhere else (of course they were rather rare in the day), and it almost broke my heart to lose a bid on a next to perfect STacy on Ebay about a year ago. I have also seen not so perfect ST Books on there. Seems 2600 stuff goes for a mint on there.

Scott

8. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-20 07:52:57 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 8

I really miss being the SysOp of The Round Table, those were really great times. Imagine waiting on 300 baud! I sometimes wish my DSL connection was faster these days. I don't even think I have a terminal program installed on my PC.

Everyone check out this site, it is pretty cool, I haven't been on it in a long time, but they even have the 1450XLD Atari on it.

http://www.computingmuseum.com/site/page_museum.htm

Scott

9. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-20 20:48:41 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 9

Scott,

I was really torn between bidding on a TT on Ebay awhile back. It had a crazy dots card like my old TT (he says with tears in his eyes). I held back though.

I still have my Jaguar and Lynx. Only have one game for the Lynx and 3-4 for the Jaguar.

10. My ICQ number

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-20 20:51:35 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 10

Everyone,

Figured I would post my ICQ number here. Case anyone is online and wants to chat sometime.

My number is 2037601

Hopefully others can post their number also if they use ICQ.

Mike

11. Links added, + other info and questions

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-20 22:02:10 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 11

Check out the Links section of the Club.

I added a bunch of sites with Atari documentation, books, magazines.

Also added sites with Atari ST software online in perfect form for eith ST Emulators or ST's themselves.

Lots of goodies. Let me know if anybody has any others to add.

Also if anybody want to help with the administration on this club let me know.

I'm going to try to add some old Cin'tari photos I have. Some were taken with a camera and I will scan them, so were done on the old Atari digitizers.

If anyone has any other photos scan them or send them my way.

Any interest in old newsletters converted to PDF?

12. thanks

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 01:06:58 UTC
From: swumpgas
Topic: 1 Message: 12

Tom Hesler AKA sandman, Midiot... Glad to keep in touch if possible.... been a while...

take care..
Tom

13. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 02:24:25 UTC
From: swumpgas
Topic: 1 Message: 13

well, I'm pretty much retired now, no more getting up at 3 AM for emergencies. We adopted a little girl from Russia a couple years ago..there goes the easy retirement..
http://www.geocities.com/cincy_bc/lexi.htm
but the Java script stopped working Lots of names here, good to see ya'll , about 10 years? keep in touch swumpgas@...
Tom Hesler

14. Good grief!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 15:16:13 UTC
From: brudesill2000
Topic: 1 Message: 14

Can Cin'tari actually rise from the ashes? We're off to a good start in only a few days. Mike told me he's already found several more former members

What amazes me is that it all started because I posted one little message to RoadRunner's help list

Bruce

P.S. Sandman, I'm really, really glad to see you're still out there.

15. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 18:45:22 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 15

hey Scott, long time no see.

regarding ebay, I KNOW what you mean. I can't tell you how many times I've been outbid. There is quite a bit of Atari stuff out there.

I still have my Atari Jaguar with a few games, although Alien Vs Predator is the one I play the most.

Bob

16. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 18:49:50 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 16

that reminds me, I STILL have my 2400 baud modem!
it still works... and some of the famous Atari software like freeze dried terminal.

I have that pinball type of game also..but I can't rememed the name of it, it was shareware I think.
was pretty cool.

I miss the old bbs's period. I remember doing those IGS graphics for some of the boards.... I did one for roundtable also. I did one for Revelstone bbs as well. I wonder how Paul collins is doing these days? or speedy?

Bob

17. Jaguar

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 18:54:03 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 17

hey Mike, I remember I bought the Jaguar only because you brought on in with the game Alien vs Predator.

Did you ever play a game on there called Iron Soldier? that was a really good one, not great graphics, but loads of fun to play and one of only a few very good games for the Jaguar.

I also have DOOM for the Jaguar....which wasn't bad, but my favorite version of DOOM came out on the playstation of all things.

Bob

18. Re: My ICQ number

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 18:57:19 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 18

my icq number is 76502568

you have a low number....I used to have ICQ when it first came out, then downloaded a new version from scratch.

Bob

19. Re: Links added, + other info and questi

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 19:04:36 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 19

I still have never tried to use a ST emulator. do they run the old ST software ok??

I think anything concerning Cintari would be great.

I still have loads of the old Atari magazines, STart magazine and others

20. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:00:47 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 20

Probably made you sick when you saw the price though?

I didn't know you had a Jaguar, I thought only Ashton bought one of those. There was one for sale for $50 at Computerfest last year, I almost bought it.

I use to have almost all of the Lynx games, but I loaned them to my nieces and only got about half of them back. I did get quite a few with the new one I just picked up, I will see if I still have that website bookmarked, he might still have games for sale.

Scott

21. Re: thanks

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:02:24 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 21

Hey Tom, how are you these days?

Scott

22. Re: Good grief!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:06:17 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 22

Hey Bruce, good to see you. Still have that huge movie collection? Converted from Beta to DVD yet?

Scott

23. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:08:10 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 23

Geez.. I guess I was the only one without a Jaguar, I feel so left out, I am going to go find one to buy!

How are you these days?

Scott

24. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:11:25 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 24

I still have my MPP1000e, only version that would reset properly if a user hung up withough logging off, I bought it from Tim Mills who ran Bugg's Board for a brief period of time. I also have the Atari 1030, 297 baud! I wonder if I could get a copy of the Roundtable online on the ST, I might have to work on that. I still have the phone number 528-5833, although it is my business fax now.

Scott

25. Re: Good grief!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:20:13 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 25

In case others didn't know....

I did talk to Lanier and Bill Deursch Saturday. Both are doing great and should be stopping by here eventually.

Both were interested in getting people back together some time soon.

26. Re: Jaguar

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:22:20 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 26

I still have my Jaguar.

I have only a few cartridges.

Cybermorph Tempest 2000
Alien Vs. Predator

There is a Jaguar emulator for the PC. It is suppose to be pretty good. I believe one of the sites in the links section has it. You can also find most of the non-cd Jaguar games from that site also.

27. Re: My ICQ number

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:26:48 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 27

Yeah I got on ICQ fairly early. For some reason I had no problem remembering the number so I just stuck with it as I downloaded newer versions.

28. Re: Links added, + other info and questi

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:38:51 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 28

Actually both the 8-bit Atari and ST emulators work pretty well now.

For the ST the best two are Steem and WinSTon. There is one called Stew that is supposedly WinSTon code with a few patches so it is probably better to use than WinSTon.

If you go to that http://lgd.fatal-design.com/ site I have in the links it will have links to all the above ST emulators and others.

The big bonus to that site though is they have almost ALL of those game packs the different groups made. (Automation, Pompey Pirates, etc.)

They have some from a group called Dbug that took over when Automation folded. They are all the latest games that came out after I got out of the ST realm and run up until the end of the ST's commercial software life.

I haven't found a disk yet that either Steem or WinSTon/Stew can't run. Grab some of those game packs and you can relive almost everything thats out there.

Some ST "classics" that I have been able to play again are.

Grand Monster Slam
Oids
Alternate Reality
Dungeon Master
Mouse Trap

On the 8-bit side the best emulators are. (in order of my prefernce)

Atari800 Win Plus
Atari800 Win
Atari800

You can get them at the one site in the links http://www.emuviews.com

Some 8-bit classics that I have been able to play.

Miner 2049'er
Shamus
Dandy Dungeon

To name a few. When we all get together sometime I can help everyone get much of the stuff I am talking about.

29. Anybody with ST stuff help me out?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 21:44:13 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 29

Guys,

Ive been playing with the ST Emulation and one thing I was trying to do was load my copy of Geneva/Neodesk on the system (I hate running the standard dektop).

Problem is my two Geneva disks don't read anymore. My Neodesk disks work fine. I even own these programs Honest, I can even scan the disks to prove it. :)

If anybody has these and can convert them to .ST or .MSA files I would be greatly in their debt.

I can lead anyone to a PC program that will read ST disks and automatically create .ST files (which are perfect for the emulators).

If anybody can help me out, drop me an email.

30. Re: My ICQ number

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 22:12:26 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 30

I just set this up. My girlfriend uses ICQ all the time, but I have never installed it. I usually use AOL Instant messenger.

My new # is 105505560

Scott

31. Re: Hello!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 22:36:17 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 31

hey Scott, doing pretty well, how about you?

good to talk to you again on icq as well.

yeah the Jaguar wasn't too bad of a system..... had some cool games on it. for those 2 games alone for me it was worth buying. I remember once playing alien vs predator I actually got scared when i opened a door and the predator was there.. then I laughed .....i couldn't believe a game finally got me, but it did.

Bob

32. Re: Good grief!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 22:40:02 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 32

hey Mike, good talking to you as well on icq.

in response to your message and out icq conversation.. does anyone know of a place that we might bring the old cintari club back together? something hopefully free of charge or little cost??

Bob

33. Re: Links added, + other info and questi

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 22:47:11 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 33

wow, those old titles really bring back the memories. I still think Dungeon Master on the ST was one of the better games out there and can match some of the space hog games for the pc out there today.

I remember when I finally won that game...took a long time....great game.

I look forward to checking out all these sites of old games, emulators and getting back together at some point.

I'm glad to hear that Lanier and Bill Deursh are still around. I remember Bill stopped coming to the meetings after some time, so I wasn't sure if he was around or not.

I wonder if Bill Addington is still around? there are alot of names I wonder about, but it's good to see the number of us that have responded so far.

Bob

34. Re: Good grief!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 22:53:22 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 34

wow it's great to hear that Bill and Lanier are still around. I wonder how many of us are still around here? will be cool to see how many of us we can get together. trying to remember some of the handles..... the mechanic(joe wolf?)
and some who I don't think were on the bbs but came to the meetings like Bill addington....

does anyone remember what year was out last meeting??

was it 1993 ??? or 1992?? i'm thinking it was somewhere in there

35. Re: My ICQ number

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 22:58:05 UTC
From: brudesill2000
Topic: 1 Message: 35

Geez. You still ain't married?

Bruce

36. The movie collection

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 22:59:24 UTC
From: brudesill2000
Topic: 1 Message: 36

Actually what I'm doing these days is converting from Beta to VHS. I can't get the Beta decks worked on anymore and can't buy new ones

So if anyone has an operating Beta they want to get rid of, toss it my way

Bruce

37. This and that

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-21 23:03:28 UTC
From: brudesill2000
Topic: 1 Message: 37

It's nice to see every one still talks a blue streak. This board is really taking off, fast

I tried the emulators Mike talked about. I've already played Operation Wolf and Shufflepuck Cafe. The thing really works. And works well

I'm going to send a couple of the zip files to my daughter. She'll flip if she can play Shufflepuck again

Some of you probably remember her. The little red haired child who came to a few meetings. She's a junior at Ohio State now. Feeling older?

Bruce

38. To be presice

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-22 01:52:46 UTC
From: brudesill2000
Topic: 1 Message: 38

Where do I find Atari 800 Win Plus. I 've looked all over and can't find it

Bruce

39. Re: To be presice

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-22 02:05:10 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 39

http://atari.8bit.heroes.org.pl/PLus/index_us.htm

40. Re: This and that

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-22 02:09:46 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 40

I remember her coming to the meetings with you.

Amazing how much time has elapsed since the last Cin'tari meeting.

41. Re: My ICQ number

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-22 03:58:20 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 41

Naw, too many women to decide from..

(looking over my shoulder so I don't get punched from my g-friend)..

Scott

42. your nickname

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-22 22:11:41 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 42

did you ever remember your nickname Bruce?

I KNOW IT..... I'm sure it was

LONE RANGER

am I right?

Bob

43. When did Cin'tari last meet?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-23 02:13:47 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 43

I've been talking with Bob about this and was wondering when the last meeting of Cin'tari was.

I know the bank closed its doors on us. Not sure if it went till the end of the year.

I know the last newsletter I did was the July of 94 issue.

Any thoughts?

44. Midi Maze Tournament Photos Added

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-23 04:09:10 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 44

Check the "Photos" section of the club out for three pictures I scanned that were originally 35mm shots of the Midimaze Tournament we had back in December 92.

I tried to keep the filesize of the pictures down, but have good quality still. I have much higher resolution versions for those who might want them.

Anybody know who the one guy is in the winners pic? He won a raffle or door prize, but we added him to the picture.

Notice any people in the pics that faces ring a bell that we should contact?

45. Some Vidi-ST pictures posted

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-23 05:03:34 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 45

I posted the pictures from one of the Cin'tari newsletters.

I scanned them and they are not the greatest quality, but if Bruce is able to find them in the old ST Library I will put them up.

There should also be more pics in the disk set than what I put in the newsletter.

46. Re: Some Vidi-ST pictures posted

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-23 23:22:16 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 46

Those were great pics Mike. WOW REALLY brought Back some memories! I think we are off to a good start in the rebirth of Cintari!

Bob

47. Come on you Lurkers! What are you up to

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-24 02:32:13 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 47

I see we have 10 people now signed up. But quite a few of them haven't spoken yet.

We want to hear from you. See what you have been up to. Let us know if the closing of Cin'tari ruined your life, or if it improved it!

48. Re: Come on you Lurkers! What are you u

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-24 05:03:54 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 48

here here! I say!

ok that concludes my British accent attempt.

how many of you still have your ATARI 8-BIT computers? lets see a show of hands...

how many of the ATARI-ST still? raise those hands..

cintari closing crushed me... I thought I was about over.. when the club showed back up online.... now I think i'm going to be ok..

ok lets hear from the rest of you.....PLEASE.

thank you , have a nice day

Bob

49. beta vcr & other non-Atari junk

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-24 14:03:39 UTC
From: erasmus39
Topic: 1 Message: 49

```
...The video heads have worn out on my Beta VCR.
But if you want it you can have it! (Also have some other high-tech "junk" available free if anybody with know-how wants to tinker around with fixing up old stuff. Some of the stuff might even work!)
..
...signed: Mr. Contrarian
.......... erasmus39 at yahoo dot com
..
...(Since everybody's using handles, I guess I'll use the one I had on Ruby Tuesday's BBS.)
```

50. Re: When did Cin'tari last meet?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-24 14:14:42 UTC
From: erasmus39
Topic: 1 Message: 50

```
...My guess is November or December '94, tho it could've been '95. I think I was at what turned out to be the "last" meeting. (But I don't think you were there at that particular meeting -- or you were gone by the time I showed up.) If I recall correctly, it was the next month, in January
'95 (or was it '96?), when an attempt to move meetings to Media Play failed to work out. I don't think I ever heard of any more meetings after that.
...
---Mr. Contrarian
...erasmus39 at yahoo dot com
```

51. favorite games

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-25 02:21:41 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 51

ok everyone..... what was your favorite game for the ATARI 8-bit?

and the ATARI ST?

my vote.... 8-BIT Alternate Reality music was better than the ST version due to the additional sound channel

ATARI ST-- Dungeon Master

those are my two votes....lets here from the rest of you on this one

Bob

52. Re: favorite games

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-25 22:24:51 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 52

Two hard to pick one.

I group em by category.

8-bit Sports: Starleague Baseball

8-bit RPG/Adventure: Ultima III, Alternate Reality

8-bit platform: Miner 2049'er

8-bit action: Archon

8-bit strategy: Mule

8-bit multiplayer: Dandy Dungeon

ST Sports: None

ST RPG/Adventure: Manhunter, Dungeon Master, Captive

ST Platform: Mouse Trap

ST Action: Oids, Time Bandits,Barbarian

ST multiplayer: Midimaze

ST Space Sim: Sundog

ST Strategy: Civilation

I can't pick just one. And I am sure I am leaving out many good ones. So I reserve the right to add or modify this list!

53. Backup Warning.

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 00:48:11 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 53

Everyone. Just a word of warning.

If you still have software for your Atari (8-bit or ST) I strongly recommend you back it up to your PC and burn it to a CD or some other form of backup. The shelf life of disk media isn't that hot and 10 years is starting to get up there. Also where you store the stuff at is an issue too.

I recently used Makedisk (link in the links section of this site) to create .ST file images of my Atari ST disks. The program runs on your PC and basically converts a disk into an .ST file image suitable for use on ST emulators, but also suitable for converting back into an actual disk later.

I did about 100 disks so far and had about 15 or so that were not readable anymore. And by readable I don't mean trying to get a directory of the disk in Windows since many older ST disks/games were not formatted in a PC readable format. I had many disks that were just plain bad. Obviously some game disks might have had protection on them and I am not counting that in my above count. Makedisk is capable of converting any ST disk to .ST image file format. It does not matter if the disk directory can't be read by your PC.

Obviously almost any ST game disk can be found on the LGD site I have in the links section already converted to .ST format, so games are not as big an issue as other stuff.

Some of the application programs I tried to convert that are now bad that really tick me off are the following.

Neodesk 3.03 (2 disks both bad), Geneva (2 disks both bad), Warp 9 3.60 (one disk), Codehead Utilities (one disk). If anybody has these originals like I do who might be able to use makedisk to convert them I would appreciate it.

On the 8-bit side there is a program called APE you can download. (Link in the link sections of this site).

It allows your PC to act as a file server for your 8-bit. Basically your 8-bit drive cable connects to a serial port on your PC and your 8-bit thinks your PC is a disk drive. It allows you to transfer disks from a real drive to your PC or even store your entire 8-bit library on the PC and use it on your 8-bit and never need your drive again.

I actually made a cable, and if we do have new meetings again, and or a meeting sometime at someones house I will bring it and anyone who wants to convert some stuff can do it.

Mike

54. Re: favorite games

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 01:36:04 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 54

well those were some good ones Mike!

that made me think of a few more.....

for the 8-bit : BOULDER DASH that was a great action game with cool graphics and loads of fun to play.

ST: EMPIRE the most addictive game I think I have ever played. Bruce can vouch for that.

I'm sure I'll think of some more too.

Bob

55. Re: Backup Warning.

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 02:57:02 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 55

that sounds great Mike. I know I have tons of old Atari disks, ST and 8-BIT. what about backups for the 8-BIT? do you still use that as well?

Bob

56. Re: Backup Warning.

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 03:28:24 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 56

I still have a couple 8-bits Atari's and drives. I usually just play under emulation though since the 8-bit emulators are perfect.

I built the cable for backing up 8-bit stuff to the PC and using the PC as a file server for the 8-bit, but I actually just went and downloaded all the premade images and such online. It was easier since I have a cable modem than converting.

I have about every 8-bit program and it all fits easily on a single CD.

57. My story

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 05:21:13 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 57

You all asked, so here's my story.

I bought my 800XL and 1050 drive when I was in teh Air Force in Germany, 1983.

I got out in 1985, discovered Cin'tari. At that time it was the 1st National Bank in Norwood, not Star Bank.

That era of my life is a little foggy so I don't remember many names. I tried to be a regular, but finances forced me to sell my stuff, which included complete collections of ANALOG and Antic. My 1050 had the Happy enhancement. I sold it all to a guy in Northern Kentucky. I have no idea what happened to it. That was in 1987.

I regret letting go of that stuff.

I do remember going to someone's office on Winton Road at one point in time. Can't recall details though.

Although I don't have my original equipment, I have acquired some 8-bit items since then. I guess I'm trying to recapture part of my youth, although I wasn't that young when I got the 800XL.

I'm up for scheduled meetings. Let's find a place and do it.

-Bob

58. Re: Backup Warning.

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 08:40:59 UTC
From: erasmus39
Topic: 1 Message: 58

```
..This is a reply to #53 posted by Mike Hill:
..
..You said that "where the stuff is stored is an issue." You got that right!! In my experience, it's the most important factor. With my 8-bit floppy disks I've never had any problems with data deterioration (after more than 15 years!)
but my disks (1) have never been exposed to tobacco smoke, and (2) have never been stored in a danky basement. Smoke, dust, and grime are very bad for disks, and quickly make the drive heads dirty!! (As I found out when I started using disks obtained in the '90s from people who had left the Atari platform behind. )
..
--Mr. Contrarian
--erasmus39 at yahoo dot com
--(Cintarian #150 -- what a number!!)
```

59. Re: My story

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 09:05:11 UTC
From: erasmus39
Topic: 1 Message: 59

```
..this is a reply to #57:
..
..Incidentally, First National was the original name of Star Bank (now called Firstar). So when you talk about Cintari meeting at First National in Norwood and Star Bank in Norwood, you're really talking about the same place.
..
--Mr. Contrarian
--erasmus39 at yahoo dot com
```

60. So who are you erasmus39??

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 09:41:54 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 60

Ok everybody on here has basically said who they are or made it pretty obvious.

But I haven't put a name to you yet. You mentioned Cin'tari number 150. I still have my master user listing and don't see a user 150. So that means you must have been expired for quite awhile or got a new number at a later date.

So if you don't have a new ID number that means your dues are late. So with the late fees, and other penalties tacked on that comes to $2200.00 :)

61. Re: So who are you erasmus39??

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 11:15:35 UTC
From: erasmus39
Topic: 1 Message: 61

(this is a reply to message #60)
My Dear Mr. Hill:
..I am very sorry to see your message posting
#60. It wasn't funny; it wasn't amusing. (Was it meant to be?) It wasn't tactful. It wasn't appropriate. (Yahoo requires no dues payments. Yahoo users from Sweden or China or Antarctica could sign up if they wanted to.) And it wasn't well-advised. It certainly didn't display what I would call 'positive promotional value' for attracting people to get involved in this new "club."
..
..Tell ya what I'm gonna do. Since postings apparently can't be deleted, I'll give you a chance to publicly retract it and apologize for everything you said there. It was poor judgment on your part to post it, and a full apology is certainly called for. Let's see how you handle this.
After that, I'll consider answering your questions.
..
--the former "Mr. Contrarian"
--erasmus39 at yahoo dot com

62. Re: So who are you erasmus39??

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 14:59:09 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 62

Dude,

Get a clue.

If you didn't catch the smiley face in the message and that it was joke, then you need to get with the times.

I created this club area (as it states at the top) so old "Cin'tari" members can meet. You stated you were a Cin'tari member, and I was trying to put a name to the handle. (as others have wondered also who you are)

If you can't take a joke then too bad.

As for publically retracting or apologizing for my message. No way. If you don't like it then leave.

63. 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 16:23:28 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 63

I know they are the same. I was splitting hairs to point out that some people remember 1st National and not Star (or Firstar).

I also remember the tension that was present when the focus of the club switched to the ST rather than the 8-bits.

As far as participation goes, the most memorable thing I did was donate Eastern Front to the library.

-Bob

64. Re: My story

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 16:40:25 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 64

Bob,

Nice to see you getting back into the 8-bit scene.

Was the office on Winton Hal Winklers store? Sylvan I think it was called? Now that I think about it I think it was on Reading Road. Might have moved to reading.

I got rid of all my ST hardware. Still kept the 8-bit hardware and software though.

The 8-bit will always be my fondest system since I got an Atari 800 in early 1979 shortly after they came out.

It was a big step up from my Vic-20 and previous to that Timer Sinclair 1000.

I do regret selling my TT also, but the 8-bit Atari's are truly classics.

Glad to have you hear.

Did you find us because someone contacted you or did you search and find the area here on Yahoo.

I know Bob Ashley has been putting a lot of effort into calling old members (thanks Bob).

65. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-26 21:53:41 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 65

I remember going to a Cin'tari meeting probably back in 1984 or 1985 and is was on the first floor of somewhere. I did not have my drivers licence then, so I don't remember where it was but I am pretty sure it wasn't at the same location where we had it in the 90's.

66. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 03:24:51 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 66

I think you are right Scott. I only attended the one in Roselawn from the late 80's on.. but I remember Mickey (gunboat) telling me that he used to go to norwood for cintari meetings and he did tell me it wasn't the same bank.

Bob

67. Re: My story

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 03:30:28 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 67

Ryanr256,

I still have most of my antic magazines and many others. in case you didn't know you can always grab TONS of all that atari stuff, 8-bit and ST on EBAY. I see tons of stuff, sometimes I have to stay off of there or I will want to buy everything i see.

Bob

68. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 03:45:56 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 68

I remember when the club switched to the ST format. although we still supported the 8-bit.

I couldn't fault the idea of doing that though, as the ST was the next big computer on the market.

I had fun with both formats, and don't forget those famous cintari auctions!

Mouth

69. Re: My story

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 04:02:00 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 69

It wasn't a store, it was an office. I think the guy was a CPA, but I'm not 100% sure.

Along with the collection of ANALOGs and Antics, I let go almost two (maybe three) years worth of Cin'tari newsletters. Yes, I'm a pack rat. :)

Ironically, the person who made me aware of this is erasmus39. We have been sporadically communicating since he recognized the one.net part of my email address as a local Cincinnati ISP on a comp.sys.atari.8bit newsgroup message. When he first contacted me, he was interested in informal meetings. I told him I would become a member of a loosely organized Atari group.

One of these days I'll catalogue my hardware (all 8-bit) and software.

For what it's worth, last weekend I picked up a very dirty 1200XL for $10.00 from the Salvation Army thrift store in Norwood. I took it home, cleaned it up and it's running great.

-Bob

70. bbs's

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 04:04:28 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 70

lets see how many bbs's we can remember.

my first call was to Turpin Forrest
GROG
HYPER MARKET
CINTARI of course
Ruby's Speedy's Revelstone discovery Roundtable
Blackhole

to name a few.....i know i'm leaving tons out

Mouth

71. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 04:04:57 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 71

I seem to remember meeting somewhere other than the basement of the bank. Can't exactly recall.

Anyone know where the meetings occurred before the bank?

-Bob

72. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 07:26:16 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 72

Maybe Lanier will chime in here. He was around during those early years.

Help us out Lanier! I know your reading these messages in email.

73. Re: bbs's

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 07:27:16 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 73

Don't forget David's Midnite Magic. Big local pirate board that got busted.

74. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 16:38:29 UTC
From: lanierwal
Topic: 1 Message: 74

I am alive and doing well. My health is fairly good. I too would like to see Cin'tari members again. I still have all of my Atari equipment along with old and new macintosh equipment. I think I have 9 computers here. I also have a computer room (den) and offer my place as a place to meet. anyone interested, just drop me a line thru the board or at lanierwal@.... Lanier

75. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 16:42:50 UTC
From: lanierwal
Topic: 1 Message: 75

I agree it was in the bank across from Surry Square in Norwood. before that it was in another bank in Norwood and before thet it was Accounting Machine inc.
where the club was founded. Can't go back much further than that.

76. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-27 20:28:06 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 76

hey Lanier! good to hear from you again.

I saw you in one of the photos that Mike loaded up. do you still have that Atari Jacket?

I have one of those also.....somewhere.

Bob

77. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 03:43:12 UTC
From: swumpgas
Topic: 1 Message: 77

yup, I was stomping all over Norwood one time looking for cintari from a flyer I'd found somewhere. Was ther not also a business place that was closing out Atari stuff, and most of the meetings ended with " I can give you a good deal on this?" He repaired electronic equipment, came to a few Cintari Auctions.

78. Re: My story 8-bits

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 03:54:32 UTC
From: swumpgas
Topic: 1 Message: 78

The 8 bits are still good for teaching. I showed my kids what little 8-bit ASM programming I knew, and they were amazed at what could be done with a 8 K program. I don't think people can really appreciate what getting anothe 16K of memory meant back in those days. and wha't amazing, the early Ataris sold for more than a moderate MSDOS machine now.. $800 for the computer Floppy drive to get rid of the tape drive..$300. at one time I had a Double Dual floppy drive, I think I paid $300 for it wholesale. 300 baud modems? and the Votrax Type and talk.. speech synthesis on an 8 bit..

at least I have a use now for the 6" floppie covers.. CDROM envelops.
Tom

79. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 10:34:19 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 79

well I started coming to the meetings in the late 80's....so I may be wrong about who you are talking about.. but I remember rising star software ? i think that was their name, coming to the meetings....but I think the guy you are talking about fixed computers and sold them etc.. had a shop somewhere around batavia... something launders....he was a tall guy... i can't seem to remember his name.....ugh someone help me, i know somebody knows who i'm talking about....

Mouth

80. Hello

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 16:35:03 UTC
From: elrond000
Topic: 1 Message: 80

Elrond here,

Finally got around to joining after talking to Mike. A lot of old names are appearing here. Mike, like the photos you posted.

I got rid of all my Atari stuff years ago. Gave most of it to my nephew who is now in IT at P&G. Since then have gone through three PCs. I am still doing a lot of desktop publisihing, using primarily Adobe PhotoShop. The digital era has reawakend my photography interest. Started with a Sony Mavic and have just upgraded to an Olympus E-10.

Would be good if the group could get back together.

Bill

81. Re: Hello

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 17:19:13 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 81

hey Bill!

great to see you again and welcome to the club.

I have to admit I never thought I would see all these names together again like we are seeing.

there are still some names missing out there, but maybe in time they can come aboard. I know Mike is still trying to put something together to contact others.

thanks to Bruce's message post and Mike reading, the Cintari club is rising from the ashes.

The fact that a good number of people have showed up here tells me a meeting again will be very likely.

good to see you again

Bob

82. I remember now

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 17:21:43 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 82

I remember the name of the guy that used to come to the auctions and repair your computer stuff.....for a stiff price I might add.

Lynn Ziegler

I don't know if he is even around anymore or if he still runs anything having to do with computers.

I originally said he was in Batavia...I don't think now that was right, I am thinking now it was more towards Ameila...somewhere near the eastgate mall.

Bob

83. Re: I remember now

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 22:14:31 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 83

Lynn Sigler is the "official" spelling of the name. (Checked the master cintari list)

He was friends (partners?) with Hal Winkler. I believe Hal and Lynn use to have an Atari dealership and store. Sylvan Enterprises. Lynn was the repair guy.

They use to be over on Winton Road. They also use to have ST Sig meetings at their place. I remember when I first joined I went to one of those Sig's but it was highly unorganized and Hal didn't really have any room for anybody to do anything. It was more Hal trying to sell you Atari stuff he still had in stock.

I took over the ST sigs at my old house in March of 1990 and did them until early 94.

If I remember Hal moved Sylvan at a later date to somewhere on Reading Road near Evendale. Or something like that.

Lynn would come to swap meets like was stated. He also advertised in the newsletter about being an Authorized Atari service center. We stopped publishing newsletters at one point when we switched to that AIM magazine and when we restarted publishing we didn't allow him to renew his ad.

There were numerous reasons why. Mainly because we didn't know how many articles we could publish due to funds and lack of articles. We also didn't believe he was an authorized Service center since Atari had no record of him or Sylvan (or anybody at that point in this area except in Dayton). There were also a few complaints at the time about him from members.

Anybody remember the name of that store in Fairfield? Was it Microwave Magic?

84. Re: Hello

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 22:21:35 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 84

Bill,

Glad to see you could make it. I was worried I gave you the wrong information on how to get to here.

Glad you liked the photos posted. Bruce imaged and old Atari disk from the Library with more captured photos on it. I am going to try to post them soon. (Have to tweak them a little)

My digital camera is getting quite ancient. About time to upgrade to something else.

85. Re: Hello

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 22:23:55 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 85

Bill,

Forgot one thing. I see your set to get these messages in email.

When you see this one drop me a line at the below email address so I can get your email address in my address book.

Mike
mhill@...

86. Hello All!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-28 23:10:11 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 86

Hi there!
I have recently moved to the Cincinnati area and have been searching for some local user groups. I stumbled on the post for this club in the comp.sys.atari.8bit news group!
It is refreshing to know that there are people in the area still interested in the Atari!

I have quite a collection of Atari things an was beginning to think that I was the ony one still interested!
(My friends think that I'm crazy for still messing with my 800XL and my ST!).
I hope that this new club really takes off and I would be willing to get together for monthly meetings. (if anyone is interested in that sort of thing). I ask myself the question every day, "Have you played Atari today?" and I can honestly answer the question with a YES!!!!!

Keep the spirit alive!
Mike

87. Re: Hello All!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 01:01:19 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 87

hi Mike and welcome aboard!

Cin'tari was a local club in the cincy area for a number of years. we lost our meeting place less than 10 years ago, and now thanks to a few people, especially Mike Hill, trying to revive the club, we may be on our way to doing so.

I have alot of my Atari stuff as well.

what were you favorite games for the 8-bit and ST?

Bob

88. Re: Hello All!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 01:23:19 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 88

What are my favorite games? This is a very difficult question! There are sooooo many!

Well here is my best shot

ATARI 8-bit:
1) Action/Strategy ---Archon!

2) Sports? Ballblazer (Not sure if this counts)

3) Simulators------ Solo Fligt (from Microprose!)
------ Silent Service is a close 2nd

4) Action-------- Maxwell Manor! (remember this?) Miner 20049'er
Lode Runner Star Raiders (who couldn't love this one)

5)Text Adventures-----Scott Adams Adventures!!!!
----- All Infocom Games!

ATARI ST:
Ok I am still a newbie to the ST. I got my Mega 2 just about a year and a half ago. I love the Cinemaware games!

Dungeon Master rocks!

:) :) I may be chastised for this but I still use my Amiga computers too!

That's it for now. There are just too many items to list!

Mike

89. Re: Hello All!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 02:14:57 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 89

Mike,

Glad to see you find us here. Nice to see other Atarian's "hanging on"

The next big hurdle for Cin'tari to be reborn is to find an official meeting place. Obviously something free would be ideal.

I'm going to make a few calls this week, and if anybody else has any ideas either check into them and report back here, or let me know.

90. Re: Hello All!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 02:54:05 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 90

an AMIGA? oh now you've done it....

you mentioned some titles I hadn't thought of in awhile....

silent service.....yes that was a very good one.

Dungeon Master is very hard to beat....star raiders...another great one.....

I played ballblazer.....there was another one called trail blazer that was sort of funny.....but good names there

Bob

91. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 06:57:14 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 91

Remember Microwave Magic? That is where my 1040ST came from. I still have the ad they ran in the Enquirer somewhere advertising them.

92. Re: bbs's

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 07:06:35 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 92

How about these;

-Barn Board
-Protocall was the name of the Cintari BBS at one time
-The Tavern
-BC's board
-Lighthouse
-Skull Island (for those hackers out there, it was an 8-bit board in New Jersey, very good BBS)
-Bug's Board
-Apex

I am leaving out a ton of boards from the 8-bit days, I can name most of the SysOps, but cannot remember the names of their BBS's.

93. What is your current hardware config?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 18:15:50 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 93

Hello again!
Ya know...Bob's question about your favorite games got me thinking....there were a ton of great games for the 8-bit and the ST. But what type of Hardware do you play them on?

Here are my current configs....

800XL with 1050 Disk Drive (no modifications)
1010 Tape Drive
1030 300 baud modem
Star Gemini 10X Printer (The beast!)

Atari 800 with 48K and no drives.

Atari Lynx Handheld with 12 games

Atari Jaguar with about 15 games

Atari 7800 Pro System with too many games to list

And last but not least .....my beloved ST
Mega ST 2 with 4meg of RAM and an External 20Meg Supra Hard Disk and 1224sc color monitor.

I am still trolling the internet in search of the ever elusive Falcon 030. I would love one of these babies!

Let me know your thoughts!
Mike

94. Re: 1st National [was:Re: My story]

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 21:56:43 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 94

microwave magic..... that rings a bell , but for some reason I'm not remembering it. where were they located?

Bob

95. Re: What is your current hardware config

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 21:59:06 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 95

Well I have 7 PC's all networked at home (mixture of Windows and Linux boxes). One Linux box is the gateway/firewall to the internet for the others. Have a cable modem with Road Runner.

But nobody wants to hear details on non Atari stuff so here is my Atari setup.

I have an Atari 800 and 800XL. 1050 and XF551 disk drive. Magnavox composite monitor. Some cartridge games, assembler editor cart and an Action cart (I heard recently and action cart went for $500 on Ebay!). Would like to find a Mac65 cartridge. Lost mine somewhere or loaned it out. (Loved that assembler!)

I have all my 8-bit software stored away. But have images of all of it loaded on my PC. Have an APE interface cable connecting the 800's drive port to the PC's serial port. So I have access to any 8-bit disk I want with the click of a mouse on the PC. Makes it real fast and convenient not having to worry about floppies and also having a much better long term storage option. The APE even handles create image files of protected disks using its Pro system software.

On the ST side of things, sadly I have no 16bit equipment. I had to sell my TT way back to alleviate the costs of the "super fast" Pentium 166 system I wanted to buy at the time!

I am hoping to find a TT again (preferably) or a Falcon since both work with SVGA monitors. To revitalize my ST days. Still have all my software and have about 90% converted to image file format.

So right now I use my PC with emulation to play ST software.

I have a Jaguar also and about 3-4 carts.

Have a Lynx and one cart!

Mike

96. Re: Microwave Magic

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 22:02:04 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 96

They were on Route 4 in Fairfield.

I bought my 520ST from them when I first went 16bit. I never bought from them again when I found out how much cheaper things were at Microtyme up in Kettering.

97. Re: What is your current hardware config

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-29 22:19:21 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 97

Oh my gosh! I completely forgot to include my 130 XE!! How could I be so absent minded! :)

Mike

98. Re: Microwave Magic

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-30 01:51:08 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 98

Microtyme! that was the store I purchased most of my software from..... they sent it ups, i was never at the store itself.

are they still around??

Bob

99. Re: What is your current hardware config

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-30 05:48:43 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 99

Geez.. $500 bucks huh. I would sell mine for that, I even still have the manual and I should have the runtime package still also.

As you know I have my Falcon still. I also have a non working Mega STE, my 1040St that still works, I have Jay's Mega ST4 and a ton of 8-bit stuff. I even have a working MIO made by ICD! I bet that is a rarity these days, it was fairly rare back in the days.

As much as I loved programming in Action, I would sell that baby for $500.00!

Scott

100. Re: Microwave Magic

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-30 05:50:57 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 100

I believe they were in that shopping center where RELO is now, on the corner facing the street.

I bought my Action cartridge, Tweety board, and a few other things at MicroTyme. Most of my hardware was mail ordered from other places. Remember Computer Studio in South Carolina? The guys name was Sheldon something. That is where my Falcon came from.

Scott

101. Re: Microwave Magic

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-30 05:51:49 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 101

They were in Kettering. I believe they went out of business before CinTari did.

102. Re: Microwave Magic

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-30 05:56:32 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 102

ah too bad about microtyme.... what was the other Atari place.... and are they still around...can't remember their name..... TOAD!

what ever happened to them?

Mouth

103. Re: Microwave Magic

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-30 06:03:26 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 103

Toad is still around.

They are just an ISP now.

www.toad.net

They have their "history" on the site somewhere.

104. Re: Microwave Magic

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-01-30 19:06:36 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 104

Dunno.. Probably either went IBM or went out of business.

105. Source for Atari TT systems cheap

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-02 07:29:03 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 105

Guys,

I found a source for Atari TT systems. The prices are unbelivable compared to other prices at dealers (the few that are left).

They are refurbished units (almost impossible to find any TT or Falcon stuff new now).

The basic system is this.

TT030 with 4 Megabytes ST RAM, 4 Megabytes TT RAM, 50MB hard drive, keyboard, mouse, a word processor, and some TT games.

The price is $275

They have high end TT's. Which are upgraded to 50MHz, and have larger hard drives and more memory. The highest end system is around $450

If your not familar with the TT you can go to http://www.atari-history.com/computers/16bits/tt030.html and see some specs.

Big things about it. (in my mind)

68030 Processor running at 32MHz

68882 Floating Point Processor

Cool case with seperate keyboard. Same as Mega STE

Seperate hard drive bay

VME port for expansion cards, 3 serial ports (I wrote a serial mouse driver for my TT when I had one. still have the code)

Works with standard SVGA monitors. No need for Atari monitors (except for a condition noted below). This is nice because you can hook your TT and PC together to the same monitor with an SV GA switchbox.

Besides the regular ST resolutions it also has 3 new TT resolutions. TT High required a special ECL monitor.

I use to love my old TT and missed it after I sold it years ago.

I am definitely thinking hard about buying one of these beasts for $275. Who knows maybe I can find a Crazy Dots II card cheap to really beef up the resolutions!

Mike

106. Source for Atari TT systems cheap

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-02 07:29:03 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 106

Guys,

I found a source for Atari TT systems. The prices are unbelivable compared to other prices at dealers (the few that are left).

They are refurbished units (almost impossible to find any TT or Falcon stuff new now).

The basic system is this.

TT030 with 4 Megabytes ST RAM, 4 Megabytes TT RAM, 50MB hard drive, keyboard, mouse, a word processor, and some TT games.

The price is $275

They have high end TT's. Which are upgraded to 50MHz, and have larger hard drives and more memory. The highest end system is around $450

If your not familar with the TT you can go to http://www.atari-history.com/computers/16bits/tt030.html and see some specs.

Big things about it. (in my mind)

68030 Processor running at 32MHz

68882 Floating Point Processor

Cool case with seperate keyboard. Same as Mega STE

Seperate hard drive bay

VME port for expansion cards, 3 serial ports (I wrote a serial mouse driver for my TT when I had one. still have the code)

Works with standard SVGA monitors. No need for Atari monitors (except for a condition noted below). This is nice because you can hook your TT and PC together to the same monitor with an SV GA switchbox.

Besides the regular ST resolutions it also has 3 new TT resolutions. TT High required a special ECL monitor.

I use to love my old TT and missed it after I sold it years ago.

I am definitely thinking hard about buying one of these beasts for $275. Who knows maybe I can find a Crazy Dots II card cheap to really beef up the resolutions!

Mike

107. New URL to reach the Cin'tari Club

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-02 22:45:37 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 107

You can now use the following URL to get to this club.

http://cintari.atari.org

The people at atari.org offer this service to atari web sites.

By using it you make it easier to give the URL to other people, plus if we move to another web site someday, atari.org will forward the cintari.atari.org to our new site. So the move would be transparent to the user.

108. New web page? Comments?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-02 22:51:43 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 108

Guys,

I was looking at free web hosting for the clubs web site. There are quite a few good services out there that are free.

Most of the good ones I have found offer about 25-50MB of space, ftp access, cgi/perl scripting.

I was thinking our own site would be better because we can design it to look like what we want. We can also have message boards that are easier to navigate and follow threads on. This Yahoo club is nice, but severly limiting in what you can do. The message board interface is tough because everything is in one big group.

I would be curious to hear comments and other peoples thoughts?

Also if we would look into a move to a real web host, are there any HTML/cgi/perl wizards out there? Or people willing to offer some help getting it going?

Mike

109. Re: New web page? Comments?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-03 03:37:50 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 109

Mike,

I've worked with some HTML, but not enough I'm afraid at this point to really help..just basic stuff. I'm still working on learning this however. CGI scpipts.... that's a whole new ballgame for me.

Bob

110. Re: New web page? Comments?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-03 05:17:52 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 110

I'm a web developer. I've done CGI (in C, not perl) on Unix a while ago. My current state is ASP (Active Server Pages) programming with a little system administration thrown in. Or maybe that should be the other way around.

Anyway, I can't promise a lot, but I do have a some experience with the technologies.

-Bob

111. Re: New web page? Comments?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-04 00:43:00 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 111

Hi There!
Well, I have no experience with CGI or Java....but I do have some web design experience. (
Macromedia Dreamweaver and Fireworks, Microsloth FrontPage and some Adobe Photoshop)

I would be willing to contibute what I can!

Mike

112. Re: New web page? Comments?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-04 00:49:47 UTC
From: bhoppe
Topic: 1 Message: 112

I've got a little bit of web design experience. I manage a few things at work, and have done some things on the side. (www.surfstart.com)

Also got a little web space, and would be happy to get some additional space. I've got a good message board package that can be used as well, which can do profiles, attachments, etc...

113. Re: New web page? Comments?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-04 01:31:23 UTC
From: lanierwal
Topic: 1 Message: 113

It souds fine to have our own place to communicate and set meetings and such. Right now I am trying to figure out how to just get mail that is directed instead of all mail circulated on the Cin'tari interest group.

Lanier

114. Re: New web page? Comments?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-04 08:20:08 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 114

Sounds like something for the programming S.I.G.

:-)

Scott

115. Re: What is your current hardware config

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-06 18:50:42 UTC
From: wkimbelton
Topic: 1 Message: 115

hmmm.. I have a Falcon.. pretty good machine, but a TT with a graphics card might even be more fun.

W

116. hello

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-06 22:32:20 UTC
From: klapkaj
Topic: 1 Message: 116

Just for anyone wondering who the lurking "klapkaj" is, in the club days I was known as "Tort".

I very rarely check in here so any responses from me will be few and far between.

117. Re: New web page? Comments?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-06 23:59:53 UTC
From: swumpgas
Topic: 1 Message: 117

I'm interested in where you find a decent free 50
meg site with CGI, and as far as scripts (CGI) Matts script Archive (WWW) has about anything you might need as far as CGI that is easily personalized.
JavaScript is a bit fussier. And that about shoots my WEB savy wad
Tom

118. Re: Free Web Hosts with CGI bin and 50MB

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-08 08:36:51 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 118

Here are a few I found when looking for places for Cin'tari to.

http://www.hypermart.net/index.gsp http://myfreedomain.com/main.html
http://www.netfirms.com/home http://www.tripod.lycos.com/

and a scary one, but some like it, although I don't think they have CGI.

http://msnhomepages.talkcity.com/

All should support FTP.

Some are geared for business or groups , I didn't really look into sites for indviduals.

119. Anyone For Coffee?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-10 11:29:34 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 119

Hi all! I was thinking late last night...(Amazing huh?) would anybody like to get together one evening on the weekend for coffee? Or..maybe if there is enough interest....we could arange a weekend day to all get together for lunch/dinner at say....Dave&Busters. I know that I was not an origional member of Cin'tari but I really like the prospect of having a computer group to belong to (again). Back in the day...(1987) I belonged to the AACUG...Akron Area Commodore Users Group.
Don't draw and quarter me yet! (:)) There was no local Atari group that I was aware of at the time...so....hey....why not Commodore...I did after all have an Amiga.

So now that I am here in Cinci....It is refreshing to me to know that there are people still interested in Atari. I am totally pumped up with the idea of "reviving" a user group.

So let me know your thoughts. Post them here or just drop me an e-mail!

Thanks!
Mike

120. Re: Anyone For Coffee?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-15 03:42:11 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 120

I think the Dave & Busters idea is a good one. I would be up for it.

I missed this post so its been awhile since it was orignally brought up. Be nice to hear from some others on the idea also.

121. Atari ST for sale

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-18 22:20:43 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 121

I have a line on an Atari ST. I don't know the specifics of the model though.

I bought some 8-bit equipment from this person and he asked if I knew anyone interested in an ST.

If you are interested, let me know. I will forward you his email address.

-Bob

122. Re: Anyone For Coffee?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-21 04:38:22 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 122

where exactly is Dave & busters?

my only problem being I live in Northern KY, I don't always know cincy areas that well.

Bob

123. Re: Atari ST for sale

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-21 04:40:26 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 123

have you tried ebay? there is quiet a bit of stuff for the Atari on there, 8-bit and ST.

HEY I had a phone line problem the other day and my modem connected at 2400 baud! ah the memories!

Mouth

124. stuff

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-21 04:42:21 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 124

does anyone remember the name of a game for the ATARI ST, I think made by arrdvark software i think? where you hit this ball down a hallway.... and it would bounce back to you , there was obstacles and it got faster as you went.

any ideas?

Mouth

125. emulators

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-21 04:43:48 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 125

can someone post something about emulators for the ATARI? I'd like to read more and not have to ask my friends over and over the same quetions about it. I still don't have a ST emulator. I'd like to try one.

also, is there a emulator for the 8-bit?

Mouth

126. hey

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-21 04:48:11 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 126

does anyone use tape drives for the 8-bit anymore?

i had a 1010 tape drive..... which I loved when you would get almost to the very end and it would go blloooooooooop ERROR oh no!

was there ever a tape drive for the ATARI ST?

(` 6 (oops line noise..... remember line noise on the old modems?? grin remember the GRIN came before the :)

Mouth

127. Re: emulators

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-21 08:58:31 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 127

Ahhh.....The topic of emulators.....

There is an excellent web site out there for the ST called the Little Green Desktop that has TONS of information on ST emulators and Disk Images. They also have some DEMO videos that are really cool. Here is the link for that.... http://www.fatal-design.com/desktop/

Also there is an excellent emulator for the Atari 8-bits called AtariWin. Grab some ATR images and have fun! Here is a link where you can download ALL Atari Emulators.

http://www.univweb.com/gb/emulators/computers.htm

There is a link on the Little Green Desktop where you can get TOS images too.

Have fun!

Mike

128. Re: Anyone For Coffee?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-21 09:09:29 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 128

What is Dave and Busters do you ask?

WEll my friend.....D&B is possible one of the coolest places I've been too. It is a huge building that houses a resturant and Video Game Arcade! Mind you that most of the games are much newer than Pac-Man :(but it is still fun. To play the games they utilize the POWER CARD system. Feed the Power Card machine large quantities of money and Credits are added to a card that looks like a credit card. Swipe the card on any game machine and off you go.

D&B is located up Interstate 275 by Tri-County mall. I currently live in Batavia and it is about a 30 min drive. Take I-275 to 747 South (Exit 42). From 747 South turn left onto East Kemper Road, proceed east and turn left on Commons Drive.

Here is their website for more info! http://www.daveandbusters.com/home/homeframe.html

I personally think that It is a perfect place for all of us to meet! Video Games, Beer, and Good Food! What more could you want! :)

See Ya!
Mike

129. Re: Atari ST for sale

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-22 04:31:40 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 129

I bought a Black Box and two SASI drives plus controller off the guy. He posted an ad on an Atari message board on the Web.

He inquired if I was interested in the ST. But, I'm more of an 8-bit guy. I think he's cleaning his attic/basement/closet etc..

I asked him about ebay and he replied that he doesn't have a credit card he can use to set up the seller account.

I don't know what his asking price is, I just thought I'd share the info.

-Bob

130. Re: emulators

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-22 04:36:27 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 130

Here's a link to the emulator FAQ:

Atari 8-bit New User, Emulator Help FAQ (Bill Kendrick)
http://www.sonic.net/~nbs/new_and_emu.html

-Bob

131. 8-bit emulator

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-22 04:45:44 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 131

Here's the text of a message from a comp.sys.atari.8bit newsgroup message:

****
The official site of Atari800win PLus (http://www.a800win.atari-area.prv.pl) is located in Poland. But Tomasz 's site is very slow. We worked together on setting up a MIRROR site in Belgium, with a MUCH faster connection. You can try it here :

http://users.swing.be/Atari800winPL

****

The consensus in that newsgroup is that Atari800Win Plus is one of the better emulators.

-Bob

132. Re: Atari ST for sale

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-02-27 00:41:00 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 132

well the reason EBAY wants a credit card to open a account is to make sure you are 18 years old. you never have to use the card again.

Cottonmouth

133. Re: Atari ST for sale

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-01 04:08:22 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 1 Message: 133

Not entirely true. It is necessary to open a seller's account. ebay has fees for listing items and that's how they get paid.

They also use it to keep their user ID's unique. If two users input the same credit card info, ebay asks questions before authorizing the account.

Anyway, the guy told me he didn't have a credit card and therefore couldn't do ebay. I thought I'd do him a favor and post that there's an ST for sale. After all, we are here because we have a common interest. Because of that interest, I thought maybe someone in this forum would be interested.

Or do we not actually own and use Atari equipment anymore?

-Bob

134. Re: hey

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-02 06:57:22 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 134

I think Gunboat started the 'Grin' didn't he?

135. Re: stuff

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-02 17:48:36 UTC
From: brudesill2000
Topic: 1 Message: 135

Yo! 'mouth!

I believe the game is The Light Corridor

I remember it too. Of course I never came close to beating it

Bruce

136. Re: Atari ST for sale

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-04 20:06:18 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 136

I'm not sure what was not entirely true.... I had said that ebay requires a credit card to get a account because you have to be 18. that IS TRUE.

I also understand and know that ebay charges to list items.....anyone should know that, I have sold items on there before, and after awhile they send you a bill.

as for equipment.....I think alot of the members still use or at least own Atari equipment.

I'm not using my ST's right now, but still have them. just don't have the room at the moment to set them up. but i will.

Mouth

137. Re: hey

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-04 20:08:52 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 137

i wouldn't doubt that at all. I'd say you are probally right. sometimes we made a joke out of it, when we met up in person we would say something and say GRIN after it.

I remember once we were going to cintari in his truck during a rainstorm.... I keep feeling like my leg was getting wet, and I looked down and saw a huge hole in the floorboard.....water gushing in, his engine kept stalling with a semi right behind us, and he was leaving a trail of beer cans on the expressway since they were piled up so high in the back.

the good ole days

CM

138. Re: stuff

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-04 20:10:48 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 138

that's IT!!!!! Light corridor.... that was a great game. I still have it.

after awhile it did get a bit tough with the speed of the ball flying back at you. I liked the fact that it used sounds so much and you had to really listen to figure out how far away the ball was once it hit the wall.

I WANT TO PLAY EMPIRE AGAIN!

'MOUTH

139. Re: hey

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-09 17:26:23 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 139

hahahahahahaa....

140. Re: hey

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-10 04:52:56 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 140

yesh that was a good one wasn't it? scary but true. I thought he'd be posting on here, I'll have to give him a call and see what he's up too.

what's been going on with you Scott?

Mouth

141. is anyone out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-19 22:33:05 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 141

ok lets get some talk going on in here.

first off, how much memory did the 520ST have? just have a meg? and then the 1040 had 1 meg?

did anyone have problems with a 1040STE running older software? if so , is there any fix for that??

Cottonmouth

142. Re: hey

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-30 05:08:13 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 142

Working, working, working.. About it..

143. Re: is anyone out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-03-30 05:10:11 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 143

I thought the 520's only had 512k, and there was something else about it, but I can't remember. I bought the 1040st, never had a 520.

I think there were several patches to make the STE work with the older stuff, plus a lot of people would run dual TOS operating systems.

Scott

144. Re: is anyone out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-04-07 02:13:57 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 144

A MESSAGE! someone IS alive out there!
yeah I know what you mean about working, I've been pretty busy myself.

I think you are right about the 520st. half a meg..sometimes i still can't beleive our meetings were that long ago. I remember them like yesterday..and yet look how far computers have come since then.

Of course you can never beat the nostalgia of the good ole days.

Cottonmouth

145. Re: is anyone out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-04-08 06:57:04 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 145

YES! I am drowning in a sea of paperwork!! Where is that shredder when you need it ;)

Here is a question for the group.

I have read breifly about a graphics card for the TT and Falcon line of computers. What I was wondering is.....is there a way to breathe new life into my Mega 2 ST ? I have upgraded it to 4meg of RAM but what about a Graphics accelerator and/or a CPU Accelerator card.

Any thoughts?

Forever swimming in the sea of data and papers....without a life jacket...or a spell checker.....
Mike :)

146. Re: is anyone out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-04-25 01:48:34 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 146

hey there.. well I CAN'T answer that question for you, but wanted to at least reply to let you know someone is reading them grin

I came through alot of old atari stuff i had recently. stuff i ordered from dayton..microtyme and others. ah the memories :)

i don't think we did the :) FACE thing on the old bbs's i think we did GRIN alot though grin

Cottonmouth

147. amiga

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-05-04 03:04:05 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 147

hey does anyone know the difference between amiga computers? such as amiga 500 etc? just curious as to which model number was more powerful, up to date etc.

I remeber the Amiga was a big rival for the Atari ST there for awhile....

Cottonmouth

148. Re: amiga

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-05-04 07:19:35 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 148

Oh I suppose that I could step up to the plate on this topic since I own 5 of them!

Here is a brief overview of the Amiga line of computer from beginning to end. This is the order they were introduced from 1985 to 1994

1) Amiga 1000 256K expandable to 8 Mbytes. 68000 Processor at 7.14 MHz Custom Chip set for Video and audio.

2) Amiga 500 512K expandable to 8 Meg. 68000 Processor at 7.14 MHz. Updated Custom Chip set. Also known as the OCS (Original Chip Set)

3) Amiga 2000 & 2500. Same as the A500 but much more room for expansion. Introduction of the Zorro II and Zorro III slots.

4) Amiga 3000. 1st Major Upgrade! CPU: 68030 at 25MHz or 68030 at 16MHz
FPU:68882 at 25MHz 68881 at 16MHz for 16MHz machine 2MB RAM upgradeable to 8 or more. ECS Enhanced Chip Set

5) Amiga 600. 1MB of RAM Very similar to the A500+ with the exception of a PCMCIA interface and a 2.5 IDE Interface. Custom Chip set on this box is the ECS (Enhanced Chip Set)

6) Amiga 1200. CPU: 68020 at 14MHz. 2MB on the motherboard. Expandable to over 8MB with Accelerator card. AGA Chip Set. (Advanced Graphics Architecture).

7) Amiga 4000. (The Grand Daddy of em all!) CPU: EC030@25Mhz or 040@25Mhz
FPU: Internal in 040 Model. None in 030 Model.
MMU: Internal in 040 Model. None in 030 Model.
AGA Chipset.

There are a ton of variations of hardware configs. Add on hard disks, CD ROMS, Accelerators, 24-BIT Graphics cards etc, etc, etc.....just too many to list!

Hope this helps!
Mike

149. Re: amiga

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-05-06 17:05:24 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 149

well thanks for all that information. but where in the heck are all the Atari people at talking about Atari computers? come on you guys, I know you're out there, I can hear you playing pong!

did anyone ever play a game called Tanglewood??

if you have, let me know what you think about it.

if you haven't, let me know what you think about it as well.

GRIN

Cottonmouth

150. ok

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-08-03 21:25:49 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 150

hey everyone. now I know somebody is out there.

I know we need a meeting place, and things would maybe pick up here a bit more if we found one. we are still working on it, so don't give up on it.

in the meantime, I have a question.. I pasted this from my email.....

Do you know of anyone that still works on those monitors, or if the Atari video signal is compatable with an ordinary VGA monitor if you change the pinout on the connector? Or if anyone you know might still have one of these old clunkers stashed away collecting dust somewhere? Any help would be greatly appreciated.

this guy, (sindar) is trying to find this out.

thanks for any help.

Cottonmouth

151. USA

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-09-16 17:11:43 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 151

I know not too many are reading here or especially posting anything, but I thought I'd give this a shot anyway.

Show your support for the USA, where ever you might be or go.

God bless America

152. ST STuff that has to go

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-10-07 17:21:10 UTC
From: MrEWorm
Topic: 1 Message: 152

```
Who wants:
2- SF354 floppy drives
Acatec 1200 hc modem

CPU's:
520ST
MEGA STE 2MB serial # A1 18 1001104
Stacy 4

2- SC1224 color monitors
cables, transformers, joystick, mice

SLM 804 & SLMC 804 laser printer

Assorted floppies

I am in Illinois and can be emailed at MrEWorm@...

^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^^
```

153. Anyone going to CinciClassic show?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-10-23 13:11:52 UTC
From: mvknapp
Topic: 1 Message: 153

I was just wondering if anyone else was planing on attending the cinciclassic convention at forest fair mall on November 10th. I was thinking of taking my Atari 800, ST, and Bally there just to help people remember these systems.

154. Re: Anyone going to CinciClassic show?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-10-25 08:31:26 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 1 Message: 154

I was thinking about going.

I missed the Philly Classics show and was thinking about driving out to it.

Should be interesting.

155. Re: Anyone going to CinciClassic show?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-10-26 15:24:54 UTC
From: mvknapp
Topic: 1 Message: 155

It looks like it may be a decent one this year.
It's being held in the center of Forest Fair Mall which is a fairly big area. They should get a lot of extra people from the mall traffic stopping in. We are getting a small group together to go. I really like to see shows like this do well so they can continue to have them.

156. Atari Lynx parts (maybe off subject)

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-10-27 23:41:23 UTC
From: mvknapp
Topic: 1 Message: 156

I know that cin'tari didn't have much to do with the atari lynx but I was wondering if anyone knows anyplace to get atari lynx parts. I need a battery cover for the original lynx and a screen cover (lens) for a lynx II. I was hoping not to have to purchase two complete units to get replacement parts.

157. Re: Atari Lynx parts (maybe off subject)

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-10-28 23:22:25 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 157

I would say your best bet would be to check out an online auction. I think Yahoo has one and of course ebay.

Bob

158. Re: Atari Lynx parts (maybe off subject)

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-10-29 00:41:55 UTC
From: mvknapp
Topic: 1 Message: 158

Thanks, I've been watching them. I guess I'll just keep looking until something shows up.

159. Atari 800 repair around Cincinnati?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-10-29 00:48:58 UTC
From: mvknapp
Topic: 1 Message: 159

This may seem similar to my last post for the atari lynx. But I just took my Atari 800 out of storage and tried to power it up. The screen changes colour but nothing ever comes up. Sometimes it's a solid brownish screen, sometimes white/grey, sometimes blue. A lot of times I'll get a few vertical lines. Does anyone know anybody around Cincinnati OH (Dayton, Columbus, Indianapolis, Louisville) that may still be able to look at an 800 or even if it would be worth looking into since I can pick up another one at auction for around $30-$80. I am kind of attached to this one and would prefer to get it working again.

160. Re: ok

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-11-06 07:36:13 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 160

I was thinking about what you said in regards to a meeting place.

I know that every third sunday of the month, the local Commodore User Group holds a meeting in the Norwood Plaza Bingo Hall, just off of Montgomery road. Would maybe that be a place close enough for everyone?

If there aren't any objections to meeting there I could find out how much it costs (If anything) and we could work from there.

Let me know or drop me an e-mail with any suggestions. My e-mail addy is cybermouse99_1999@....

161. Re: Anyone going to CinciClassic show?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-11-06 22:43:10 UTC
From: cybermouse99_1999
Topic: 1 Message: 161

I'll be there!

I ran across the link on the Atari.org web site.

Looks like it's gonna be a neat show.

Hope to finally put some faces to the screen names

Mike

162. Re: ok

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2001-11-07 03:02:14 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 162

certainly no objections from me, it doesn't hurt to look into a place to meet. we have tried to figure out a place for some time now. I'm all for it.

i'm not sure if that's a rough neighborhood or not, but we can always protect ourselves with our heavy atari equipment grin

Bob
o b

163. Happy new year and Atari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-01-01 08:13:41 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 1 Message: 163

I hope everyone has a safe happy new year...

has anyone noticed that the ATARI logo has been seen on magazine ads, as well as on some game boxes?

has ATARI come back from the dead? or did another outfit buy the rights to Atari?

just curious

Bob

164. Re: Happy new year and Atari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-01-05 05:05:51 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 1 Message: 164

I just bought a PS2 game that is by Atari, Splashdown, it is pretty cool.

By the way, I resurected Rount Table BBS from the dead last night. It is still in pristine condition as it was 6/10/96 when it came down for good. I am now working to try to back up the hard drives to my PC to try to get it up under emulation.

Scott

170. Removed Spam

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-02 21:43:49 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 170 Message: 170

I removed the spam and also deleted those users.

Nice seeing these jerks start to hit the groups too.

171. Re: Removed Spam

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-03 04:05:32 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 170 Message: 171

--- In cintari@y..., hillsoftware <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> I removed the spam and also deleted those users.
>
> Nice seeing these jerks start to hit the groups too.

hey Mike,

so do we see ads from now on on all the messages that we leave?
not that we have left that many, but it would be nice to get the group going again.

Bob

173. Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-07 18:00:53 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 173 Message: 173

Hey everybody,

The wife and I are buying a new home and we plan to move by the end of this month

I have a ton of Atari stuff laying around in the basement. 8-bit and 16-bit. I really don't want to move it and I'd hate to toss it in the trash. If anyone would like it let me know. I've got hundreds of disks, computers, hard drives, etc. Also the old Cin'tari disk library

Bruce

174. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-08 01:56:20 UTC
From: rorymcmahon
Topic: 173 Message: 174

Bruce,

I'm not local, but not rich enough to have everything shipped. Do you have a list of this items?

Thanks
Rory

--- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> Hey everybody,

> I have a ton of Atari stuff laying around in the basement. 8-bit
and

> Bruce

175. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-08 03:28:43 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 173 Message: 175

--- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> I have a ton of Atari stuff laying around in the basement. 8-bit
and > 16-bit. I really don't want to move it and I'd hate to toss it in the > trash. If anyone would like it let me know. I've got hundreds of > disks, computers, hard drives, etc. Also the old Cin'tari disk library
>
> Bruce

Bruce let me know if you don't find anyone else. I could meet you at are favorite Wendy's stop out there.

If we ever get the Cin'tari thing going again we could use the library or give out some of the Atari stuff you have to members.

You never did find that switchbox thing did you?

Mike

176. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-08 04:30:28 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 173 Message: 176

> trash. If anyone would like it let me know. I've got hundreds of > disks, computers, hard drives, etc. Also the old Cin'tari disk library
>
> Bruce

Bruce, I'll be there monday morning at 6am with the U-haul.

ok, maybe not. well as we discussed in email, i might be interested in some of the stuff, but i also like the idea of the stuff being preserved for the club should we get it going again as Mike said.

I just wanted to post a real message on here instead of just email. seems like since Mike started this club , a year ago now?
or more? that we had a little flash of coming back , then it went out like a candle in a rain storm.

If we get a actual PLACE to meet, then it might be like old times once again.

what about if we rented a place, and have the dues for the club cover the rent? I know, maybe that won't work, but at least it's an idea.

Bob

177. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-10 17:31:56 UTC
From: wkimbelton
Topic: 173 Message: 177

--- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> Hey everybody,
>
> The wife and I are buying a new home and we plan to move by the end > of this month
>
> I have a ton of Atari stuff laying around in the basement. 8-bit
and > 16-bit. I really don't want to move it and I'd hate to toss it in the > trash. If anyone would like it let me know. I've got hundreds of > disks, computers, hard drives, etc. Also the old Cin'tari disk library
>
> Bruce

Do NOT trash the stuff. If you don't have anybody else to pick it up, drop me an email and we can arrange a pickup time at your convenience. I really get depressed when I think about landfills populated by Atari hardware and software. ;)

Bill

178. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-10 18:15:50 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 173 Message: 178

OK, maybe between you and Mike Hill and Bob Ashley I can find a good home for all of it

Bruce

>
> Do NOT trash the stuff. If you don't have anybody else to pick it up,
> drop me an email and we can arrange a pickup time at your > convenience. I really get depressed when I think about landfills > populated by Atari hardware and software. ;)
>
> Bill

179. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-12 18:28:39 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 173 Message: 179

Bruce,

I will gladly take any 8-bit stuff you have. Just let me know when and where.

-Bob

--- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> Hey everybody,
>
> The wife and I are buying a new home and we plan to move by the end
> of this month
>
> I have a ton of Atari stuff laying around in the basement. 8-bit
and > 16-bit. I really don't want to move it and I'd hate to toss it in the > trash. If anyone would like it let me know. I've got hundreds of > disks, computers, hard drives, etc. Also the old Cin'tari disk library
>
> Bruce

180. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-12 20:48:03 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 173 Message: 180

Let's see if we can get everybody to agree to a date and time. If you all just come here we can go down in the basement and you can help yourselves

Bruce

--- In cintari@y..., ryanr256 <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> Bruce,
>
> I will gladly take any 8-bit stuff you have. Just let me know when > and where.
>
> -Bob
>
>
> --- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> > Hey everybody,
> >
> > The wife and I are buying a new home and we plan to move by the end
> > of this month
> >
> > I have a ton of Atari stuff laying around in the basement. 8-bit
> and > > 16-bit. I really don't want to move it and I'd hate to toss it in > the > > trash. If anyone would like it let me know. I've got hundreds of > > disks, computers, hard drives, etc. Also the old Cin'tari disk > library
> >
> > Bruce

181. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-16 08:28:21 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 173 Message: 181

Since others seem to be interested I will bow out for them. My main concern was keeping the clubs library together. Not sure why.

The only other "hope" I had was that you found that switchbox for the multisync monitor I got back from you.

--- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> Let's see if we can get everybody to agree to a date and time. If you > all just come here we can go down in the basement and you can help > yourselves
>
> Bruce
>
>
>

182. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-16 12:42:27 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 173 Message: 182

--- In cintari@y..., hillsoftware <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> Since others seem to be interested I will bow out for them. My main > concern was keeping the clubs library together. Not sure why.
>
> The only other "hope" I had was that you found that switchbox for the multisync monitor I got back from you.
>
>
Nobody has really expressed an interest in the 16-bit stuff or the library except you

I haven't gotten down there to start digging the stuff out yet. So the swtchbox hasn't surfaced

183. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-17 15:55:30 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 173 Message: 183

My schedule is pretty open. 'specially on weekends.

I can keep the library if necessary. I'm a diehard 8-bit fan and it would be in good hands, if I must say so myself.

If, for any reason, I am unable to keep it, I would give members of this group first notice. I'm not doing this for my own benefit. I truly believe we have some computing history here and it would be a shame to lose it.

Let me know what works for you and I can arrange my schedule.

-Bob
PS I apologize for the late reply. I lost connectivity for a few days.

--- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> Let's see if we can get everybody to agree to a date and time. If you
> all just come here we can go down in the basement and you can help > yourselves
>
> Bruce
>
>
>
> --- In cintari@y..., ryanr256 <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> > Bruce,
> >
> > I will gladly take any 8-bit stuff you have. Just let me know when > > and where.
> >
> > -Bob
> >
> >
> > --- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> > > Hey everybody,
> > >
> > > The wife and I are buying a new home and we plan to move by the
> end
> > > of this month
> > >
> > > I have a ton of Atari stuff laying around in the basement. 8-bit
> > and > > > 16-bit. I really don't want to move it and I'd hate to toss it in

> > the > > > trash. If anyone would like it let me know. I've got hundreds of
> > > disks, computers, hard drives, etc. Also the old Cin'tari disk > > library
> > >
> > > Bruce

184. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-18 13:12:26 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 173 Message: 184

--- In cintari@y..., "ryanr256" <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> My schedule is pretty open. 'specially on weekends.
>
> I can keep the library if necessary. I'm a diehard 8-bit fan and it > would be in good hands, if I must say so myself.
>
> If, for any reason, I am unable to keep it, I would give members of > this group first notice. I'm not doing this for my own benefit. I > truly believe we have some computing history here and it would be a > shame to lose it.
>
> Let me know what works for you and I can arrange my schedule.
>
> -Bob
> PS I apologize for the late reply. I lost connectivity for a few days.
>
>
That'll be fine. I don't have the 8-bit library, only the ST stuff.
But I know I have a bunch of 8-bit software that I accumulated in the early days. You can have it. My daughter wants the 128XL and a bos of her favorite games. But you can have the rest of it.

I'd like to get everybody who's interested to stop over at the same time and get it all over with. We've set the move date for May 9th, so before then would be best

Bruce

185. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-18 14:37:14 UTC
From: mvknapp
Topic: 173 Message: 185

I was just watching to give everyone else a chance to reply. If all the 16bit stuff hasn't been claimed I would be more than happy to hang on to it. I have a little office set up for my ST's and still do programming & games on them regularly. If anyone is interested I could host a fairly large portion of the Cin'tari library on my FTP server for everyone to get to. The only items I would not be willing to post would be copyrighted software from companies that are still supporting the Atari platforms (there still are a few). I would also greatly appreciate any hardware you may still have available.

Off topic: has there been any more discussion on a posible meeting place? I thought the idea of a small fee in order to rent a place was a good idea. Is the bank in Norwood still there? That would bring back memories.

186. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-18 16:14:01 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 173 Message: 186

If no one steps forward for the ST library, I can store it. My passion is the 8-bit, but I still don't want to see anything lost.

Who else besides myself is interested? Let's set a date and time.

-Bob

--- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> That'll be fine. I don't have the 8-bit library, only the ST stuff.
> But I know I have a bunch of 8-bit software that I accumulated in the > early days. You can have it. My daughter wants the 128XL and a bos of > her favorite games. But you can have the rest of it.
>
> I'd like to get everybody who's interested to stop over at the same > time and get it all over with. We've set the move date for May 9th, > so before then would be best
>
> Bruce

187. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-19 00:12:13 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 173 Message: 187

I'm pretty well tied up this weekend. But Saturday the 27th would work for me if every one wants to come over then

Bruce

--- In cintari@y..., "ryanr256" <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> If no one steps forward for the ST library, I can store it. My > passion is the 8-bit, but I still don't want to see anything lost.
>
> Who else besides myself is interested? Let's set a date and time.
>
> -Bob
>

188. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-19 01:10:03 UTC
From: Bob Ryan
Topic: 188 Message: 188

Sounds good to me. Any particular time?

I'll need your address.

Thanks,

-Bob

brucerudesill wrote:
>
> I'm pretty well tied up this weekend. But Saturday the 27th would > work for me if every one wants to come over then
>
> Bruce
>
> --- In cintari@y..., "ryanr256" <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> > If no one steps forward for the ST library, I can store it. My > > passion is the 8-bit, but I still don't want to see anything lost.
> >
> > Who else besides myself is interested? Let's set a date and time.
> >
> > -Bob
> >
>

189. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-19 22:48:21 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 188 Message: 189

Any time after one p.m. should be OK

Bruce

--- In cintari@y..., Bob Ryan <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> Sounds good to me. Any particular time?
>
> I'll need your address.
>
> Thanks,
>
> -Bob
>
> brucerudesill wrote:
> >
> > I'm pretty well tied up this weekend. But Saturday the 27th would > > work for me if every one wants to come over then
> >
> > Bruce
> >
> > --- In cintari@y..., "ryanr256" <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> > > If no one steps forward for the ST library, I can store it. My > > > passion is the 8-bit, but I still don't want to see anything lost.
> > >
> > > Who else besides myself is interested? Let's set a date and time.
> > >
> > > -Bob
> > >
> >

190. Re: Free to a good home

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-04-25 17:41:39 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 188 Message: 190

Bruce,

I need to know where you are.

Call me 573-2549 (work) 631-7118 (home) and let me know where you are.

-Bob

--- In cintari@y..., brucerudesill <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> Any time after one p.m. should be OK
>
> Bruce
>
>
> --- In cintari@y..., Bob Ryan <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> > Sounds good to me. Any particular time?
> >
> > I'll need your address.
> >
> > Thanks,
> >
> > -Bob
> >
> > brucerudesill wrote:
> > >
> > > I'm pretty well tied up this weekend. But Saturday the 27th would > > > work for me if every one wants to come over then
> > >
> > > Bruce
> > >
> > > --- In cintari@y..., "ryanr256" <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> > > > If no one steps forward for the ST library, I can store it. My > > > > passion is the 8-bit, but I still don't want to see anything > lost.
> > > >
> > > > Who else besides myself is interested? Let's set a date and > time.
> > > >
> > > > -Bob
> > > >
> > >

191. Attn: Mike Hill

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-05-21 03:33:26 UTC
From: ryanr256
Topic: 191 Message: 191

Mike,

I have located the video switch box for the ST that you asked Bruce about. Do you still want it?

I work in Mason and live in Pleasant Ridge.

-Bob

192. Re: Attn: Mike Hill

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-05-21 12:59:54 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 191 Message: 192

--- In cintari@y..., "ryanr256" <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> Mike,
>
> I have located the video switch box for the ST that you asked Bruce > about. Do you still want it?
>
> I work in Mason and live in Pleasant Ridge.
>
> -Bob

I'm glad you spoke up Bob. I lost your phone number in the move

I found another box af ST stuff. All hardware. It looks to be everything but the CPU. There is definitely a monitor in there

If anybody wants it, it's teirs for the asking

Bruce

193. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: Attn: Mike Hill

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-05-21 21:02:41 UTC
From: Bob Ryan
Topic: 193 Message: 193

I'm afraid I'll have to pass. My wife is already upset and I can't risk annoying her any more.

-Bob

brucerudesill wrote:
>
> --- In cintari@y..., "ryanr256" <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> > Mike,
> >
> > I have located the video switch box for the ST that you asked Bruce > > about. Do you still want it?
> >
> > I work in Mason and live in Pleasant Ridge.
> >
> > -Bob
>
> I'm glad you spoke up Bob. I lost your phone number in the move
>
> I found another box af ST stuff. All hardware. It looks to be > everything but the CPU. There is definitely a monitor in there
>
> If anybody wants it, it's teirs for the asking
>
> Bruce
>

194. Re: Attn: Mike Hill

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-05-21 22:19:51 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 193 Message: 194

--- In cintari@y..., Bob Ryan <ryanr@o...> wrote:
>
> I'm afraid I'll have to pass. My wife is already upset and I can't risk annoying her any more.
>
> -Bob
>
>
Oh shoot. I thought you needed a monitor. It's not really a whole lot. Acouple of speakers, hard drive or two I think and the monitor which isn'ta real large one

Bruce

195. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: Attn: Mike Hill

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-05-21 21:25:29 UTC
From: Bob Ryan
Topic: 193 Message: 195

Well, if it's not that much, maybe I can sneak it in. :-)

Are you in the new house?

-Bob

brucerudesill wrote:
>
> --- In cintari@y..., Bob Ryan <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> >
> > I'm afraid I'll have to pass. My wife is already upset and I can't > risk annoying her any more.
> >
> > -Bob
> >
> >
> Oh shoot. I thought you needed a monitor. It's not really a whole > lot. Acouple of speakers, hard drive or two I think and the monitor > which isn'ta real large one
>
> Bruce
>

196. Re: Attn: Mike Hill

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-05-21 22:31:29 UTC
From: brucerudesill
Topic: 193 Message: 196

--- In cintari@y..., Bob Ryan <ryanr@o...> wrote:
> Well, if it's not that much, maybe I can sneak it in. :-)
>
> Are you in the new house?
>
> -Bob
>

Oh we're here all right. Give me a call so we can talk about it. 451-9582. The first thing I have to do is find the box the stuff is in. I haven't seen it since we moved

Bruce

> brucerudesill wrote:
> >
> > >
> > >
> > Oh shoot. I thought you needed a monitor. It's not really a whole > > lot. Acouple of speakers, hard drive or two I think and the monitor > > which isn'ta real large one
> >
> > Bruce
> >

197. Re: [Cin'tari] Digest Number 17

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2002-05-22 15:11:35 UTC
From: Rory McMahon
Topic: 197 Message: 197

Hello,

Just a reminder that the CCAG is in Garfield Heights, OH this weekend. A good place to sell your Atari stuff. Heres the info...

http://www.ccagshow.com/

Tables are cheap, so come one come all..

Rory

_____
Do You Yahoo!?
LAUNCH - Your Yahoo! Music Experience
http://launch.yahoo.com

201. Hello strangers?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-07-23 06:44:35 UTC
From: bradjhnsn
Topic: 201 Message: 201

well maybe not...

Does anyone remember me?
my name is brad johnson i used to run the MYTH bbs WAY back then...
I went under the psudonym of cerberus...
I dont recognize anyones names..

See ya next visit

202. Re: Hello strangers?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-08-06 14:12:07 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 201 Message: 202

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, "bradjhnsn" <bradjhnsn@y...> wrote:
> well maybe not...
>
> Does anyone remember me?
> my name is brad johnson i used to run the MYTH bbs WAY back then...
> I went under the psudonym of cerberus...
> I dont recognize anyones names..
>
>
> See ya next visit

Brad,

I remember Myth BBS.

I went by the handle Belboz back in the BBS days. I use to frequent Grog the most though. I was also on Cin'tari's BBS and the Roundtable.

203. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: Hello strangers?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-08-09 22:38:52 UTC
From: brad johnson
Topic: 201 Message: 203

Hmmmmmm I seem to vaguely remember that name...
I used to frequent round table and grog and also treasure island...

actually had a message transfer setup with round table and treasure island....
i remember those guys very well.

well lets keep the past alive and someone shout out if they recognize anything...

brad johnson
formerly(and still sometimes am) Cerberus
(lots of people robbed my psudonym so i don't use it alot) hillsoftware <no_reply@yahoogroups.com> wrote:

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, "bradjhnsn" <bradjhnsn@y...> wrote:
> well maybe not...
>
> Does anyone remember me?
> my name is brad johnson i used to run the MYTH bbs WAY back then...
> I went under the psudonym of cerberus...
> I dont recognize anyones names..
>
>
> See ya next visit

Brad,

I remember Myth BBS.

I went by the handle Belboz back in the BBS days. I use to frequent Grog the most though. I was also on Cin'tari's BBS and the Roundtable.

Yahoo! Groups SponsorADVERTISEMENT

To unsubscribe from this group, send an email to:
cintari-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com

Your use of Yahoo! Groups is subject to the Yahoo! Terms of Service.

Do you Yahoo!?
Yahoo! SiteBuilder - Free, easy-to-use web site design software

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

204. [Cin'tari] Re: Hello strangers?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-08-19 21:32:21 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 201 Message: 204

I'm wondering how many people out there are still paying attention to this forum.

I've gotten a few emails from people wanting to have an Atari get together or meeting somewhere.

Would love to hear any ideas on a possible place we could meet to relive the old days, possibly something like the old Star Bank Cin'tari used, so we have access to power for running some of these old Atari's!

Any ideas anyone?

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, brad johnson <bradjhnsn@y...> wrote:
> Hmmmmmm I seem to vaguely remember that name...
> I used to frequent round table and grog and also treasure island...
>
> actually had a message transfer setup with round table and treasure island....
> i remember those guys very well.
>
> well lets keep the past alive and someone shout out if they recognize anything...
>
> brad johnson
> formerly(and still sometimes am) Cerberus
> (lots of people robbed my psudonym so i don't use it alot)
>

205. Who's still out there

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-08-19 21:35:40 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 205 Message: 205

Just sending out this special notice to see who is still out there.

I've been asked about trying to work on finding a place for everyone to get together again for a little Cin'tari (or Atari for that matter) reunion.

Would love to hear from people if there interested, and or any ideas on a meeting place that might be cheap or free (hopefully with power).

Mike

206. Atrari Swap Meet

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-08-21 00:47:27 UTC
From: colonel_charles
Topic: 206 Message: 206

Hi there fellow Atari fans. I thougth I would drop you folks a line and let you know tha there is going to be an Atari swap meet coming up. The Atari Enthusiasts of Columbus (ACEC) will be holding their annual swap meet on Saturday Septaember the 13th in Columbus. It will start at 9 am. and go to around 3 pm. There is an admission charge to cover costs. You can check out acec.atari.org for further details and directions. Hope to see you there.

207. Re: Who's still out there

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-08-25 13:54:40 UTC
From: klapkaj
Topic: 205 Message: 207

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, hillsoftware <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> Just sending out this special notice to see who is still out there.
>
> I've been asked about trying to work on finding a place for everyone to get together > again for a little Cin'tari (or Atari for that matter) reunion.
>
> Would love to hear from people if there interested, and or any ideas on a meeting > place that might be cheap or free (hopefully with power).
>
> Mike

I'm {Tort} still out here. I'm afraid I got rid of all my Atari stuff. And I only use to net for research and shopping. I wouldn't mind meeting the members again.

211. Atari antiques - FREE!!!!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-12-14 16:01:47 UTC
From: swumpgas
Topic: 206 Message: 211

I have a ton os Atari ST and 800 stuff to get rid of. FREE for the hauling.

not even sure what all I have or condition.. 2 color 1 bw monitor, Misc floppy drives, power supplies.

biggest thing is tons of programs from the old STation BBS and "Bits and Bytes" BBS

cleaning out the basement

please email swumpgas@...

if you're a collector, etc, it's a goldmine.. to me it's things to trip over.

bring a car with a big trunk or mini van.

Tom Hesler AKA "Sandman", Midiot, swumpgas, etc.

you MUST take it all.. I need room in the basement. and would lik to see it appreciated as opposed to going to a Goodwill store..

I think 10 years is long enought to wait for Atari to make a "Comeback"

I don't want to play... do you have? etc..

come get it..

212. Re: Atari antiques - FREE!!!!

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-12-14 16:11:08 UTC
From: swumpgas
Topic: 206 Message: 212

the email addrsss is swumpgas @ yahoo . com

remove the spaces

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, swumpgas <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> I have a ton os Atari ST and 800 stuff to get rid of. FREE for the > hauling.
>
> not even sure what all I have or condition.. 2 color 1 bw monitor, > Misc floppy drives, power supplies.
>
> biggest thing is tons of programs from the old STation BBS and "Bits > and Bytes" BBS
>
> cleaning out the basement
>
> please email swumpgas@y...
>
> if you're a collector, etc, it's a goldmine.. to me it's things to > trip over.
>
> bring a car with a big trunk or mini van.
>
> Tom Hesler AKA "Sandman", Midiot, swumpgas, etc.
>
> you MUST take it all.. I need room in the basement. and would lik to > see it appreciated as opposed to going to a Goodwill store..
>
> I think 10 years is long enought to wait for Atari to make a "Comeback"
>
> I don't want to play... do you have? etc..
>
> come get it..

213. Test

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-12-19 04:31:19 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 213 Message: 213

This is a test, for some reason my messages don't seem to be posting..

Scott

214. Re: Test

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2003-12-19 04:33:08 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 213 Message: 214

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, scotthayka <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> This is a test, for some reason my messages don't seem to be posting..
>
> Scott

Cool, it worked now..

Hey Brad, you still reading this group?? Email me, shaynesjm@.... (This is KA, King Arthur, Scott Haynes)..

Good to talk to you tonight Tom...

Scott (KA in the old days)

215. Re: Test

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2004-02-21 00:14:08 UTC
From: cottonmouth92
Topic: 213 Message: 215

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, scotthayka <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> --- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, scotthayka <no_reply@y...> wrote:
> > This is a test, for some reason my messages don't seem to be > posting..
> >
> > Scott
>
> Cool, it worked now..
>
>
hey all, whoever is out there. I lost the link to the club for some time. Then it said I couldn't reply via email because i chose not to disclose my email address. I never checked that setting that I knew of, but I changed it back. I still have all my Atari stuff, although I play alot of pc games of course.. but the Atari stuff was very cool. I wish we could get a club of any kind together again.

Bob

ps. who's out there?

216. ACEC Swap Meet

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2005-01-27 16:02:11 UTC
From: colonel_charles
Topic: 216 Message: 216

I just wanted to let everybody know that the Atari Computer Enthusiasts of Columbus will be holding their annual swap meet and sale. It will be held on Saturday September the 10th from about 9 am to 3 pm. For more information, you can check out acec.atari.org. I heard somebody say that this is the only Atari swap meet in the country. Don't know if that is true or not, but would like to find out.

217. Old Atari Stuff

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2005-04-21 19:13:01 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 217 Message: 217

Everyone,

I've been looking at getting some different items to round out my Atari collection.

If you have any of the below stuff and don't want it, or want to sell it, drop me a line.

ST Hardware:

Atari ST 1435 Color Monitor (or possibly a 1422 color monitor)
Discovery Cartridge

8-bit Hardware

130xe
1050 or 810 disk drive with Happy enhancement

Jaguar

Iron Soldier II (cd or cart)
Battlesphere or Battlesphere Gold
Towers II
Catbox or Scatbox

I am also interested in any and all ST and 8-bit original games (disk or cart)

Send me an email if you have any of the above and are wanting to part with it.

mhill@...

218. ACEC Swap Meet

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2005-08-15 02:12:10 UTC
From: colonel_charles
Topic: 216 Message: 218

I am sorry for the repeat post in the Atari groups. I am just trying to get the word out. I just want to remind anybody about the ACEC Swap Meet on Saturday September the 10th in Columbus Ohio. This is an Atari Specific swap meet, but other classic computers and video games are welcome. Please see acec.atari.org for further details and updated information. Or you can email me with any questions.

219. Bruce

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2005-08-15 04:24:23 UTC
From: cottonmouth094
Topic: 173 Message: 219

I'm sorry to announce the passing away of our old friend Bruce Rudesill. He was fighting cancer since late last year. He passed away about 10 days ago. I was shocked , because it sounded like after the surgery, he would do some chemo and be able to fight it off. It didn't happen. So for all of you who still read the posts here....remember Bruce in your prayers.

Bob
aka Cottonmouth

220. Re: [Cin'tari] Bruce

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2005-08-15 04:30:10 UTC
From: Swumpgas
Topic: 173 Message: 220

Thanks, I have not seen Bruce for a few years.
I have gotten very active in Veterans things, Memorials, etc in retirement, and can sure add Bruce to the Prayers tht are being said for the 18 Ohio Marines recently KIA.

thanks for the update. If Bruce was married, I can probably help his family uncover some Veterans benefits that are fairly unknown if they need financial help.

Tom Hesler

--- cottonmouth094 <robo@...> wrote:

> I'm sorry to announce the passing away of our old friend Bruce > Rudesill. He was fighting cancer since late last year. He passed away > about 10 days ago. I was shocked , because it sounded like after the > surgery, he would do some chemo and be able to fight it off. It didn't > happen. So for all of you who still read the posts here....remember > Bruce in your prayers.
>
> Bob
> aka Cottonmouth
>
>
>

221. Re: [Cin'tari] Bruce

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2005-08-15 22:34:58 UTC
From: robo@iglou.com
Topic: 173 Message: 221

hi Tom, yes he was married. his wife is named Sharon.... I'll look for her email in case you would like to contact her. It was a shame, but I'm glad there are still some Cintari people reading the posts. Bob -----Original Message----- From: Swumpgas To: cintari@yahoogroups.com Date: Sun, 14 Aug 2005 21:30:10 -0700 (PDT) Subject: Re: [Cin'tari] Bruce > > > > > Thanks, I have not seen Bruce for a few years.?
> I have gotten very active in Veterans things, Memorials, etc in > retirement, and > can sure add Bruce to the Prayers tht are being said for the 18 Ohio > Marines > recently KIA.
>
> thanks for the update.? If Bruce was married, I can probably help > his family > uncover some Veterans benefits that are fairly unknown if they need > financial > help.
>
> Tom Hesler
>
>
> --- cottonmouth094 wrote:
>
> > I'm sorry to announce the passing away of our old friend Bruce > > > Rudesill.? He was fighting cancer since late last year. He > passed away > > about 10 days ago.? I was shocked , because it sounded like > after the > > surgery, he would do some chemo and be able to fight it off.? > It didn't > > happen. So for all of you who still read the posts > here....remember > > Bruce in your prayers.
> >
> > Bob
> > aka Cottonmouth
> >
> >
> >
>
> > > > > > > > >
>
> > YAHOO! GROUPS LINKS >
>
> >
- ?Visit your group " href="http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari">cintari" on the > web.
? >
- ?To unsubscribe from this group, send an > email to:
? href="mailto:cintari-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com?subject=Unsubscribe">c > intari-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com
? >
- ?Your use of Yahoo! Groups is subject to the > Yahoo! Terms of > Service (http://docs.yahoo.com/info/terms/). > >
>

> >
> > > > > > > > >

222. Re: [Cin'tari] Bruce

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2005-08-16 02:58:39 UTC
From: Swumpgas
Topic: 173 Message: 222

thanks. please pass along my email too, should she need to ask any questions. --- robo@... wrote: > > hi Tom, yes he was married. his wife is named Sharon.... I'll look for > her email in case you would like to contact her. It was a shame, but I'm > glad there are still some Cintari people reading the posts. > > Bob > > -----Original Message----- > From: Swumpgas > To: cintari@yahoogroups.com > Date: Sun, 14 Aug 2005 21:30:10 -0700 (PDT) > Subject: Re: [Cin'tari] Bruce > > > > > > > > > > Thanks, I have not seen Bruce for a few years.
> > I have gotten very active in Veterans things, Memorials, etc in > > retirement, and > > can sure add Bruce to the Prayers tht are being said for the 18 Ohio > > Marines > > recently KIA.
> >
> > thanks for the update. If Bruce was married, I can probably help > > his family > > uncover some Veterans benefits that are fairly unknown if they need > > financial > > help.
> >
> > Tom Hesler
> >
> >
> > --- cottonmouth094 wrote:
> >
> > > I'm sorry to announce the passing away of our old friend Bruce > > > > > Rudesill. He was fighting cancer since late last year. He > > passed away > > > about 10 days ago. I was shocked , because it sounded like > > after the > > > surgery, he would do some chemo and be able to fight it off. > > It didn't > > > happen. So for all of you who still read the posts > > here....remember > > > Bruce in your prayers.
> > >
> > > Bob
> > > aka Cottonmouth
> > >
> > >
> > >
> >
> > > > > > > > > > > > > > > > > > >
> >
> > > > YAHOO! GROUPS LINKS > >
> >
> > > >
- Visit your group " > href="http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari">cintari" on the > > web.
> >
- To unsubscribe from this group, send an > > email to:
> href="mailto:cintari-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com?subject=Unsubscribe">c > > intari-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com
> >

- Your use of Yahoo! Groups is subject to the > > Yahoo! Terms of > > Service (http://docs.yahoo.com/info/terms/). > > > >
> >
> > > >
> >

223. Possible get together

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2006-02-19 05:57:34 UTC
From: mvknapp
Topic: 223 Message: 223

I'm not sure how many people are still monitoring this group but I was thinking that a possible meeting place may be at the CinciClassic gaming show in Fairfield in April. I'm not affiliated with them in any ways but I'll have a table there where I'll have my original 800 up & running along w/ a few other systems. It just seemed like a natural place to finally have a get together and see some old faces. If anyone is interested the CinciClassic web site is www.cinciclassic.org. The show is April 7th.

-Matthew Knapp

224. Re: [Cin'tari] Possible get together

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2006-02-20 03:54:18 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 223 Message: 224

mvknapp wrote:
> I'm not sure how many people are still monitoring this group but I was > thinking that a possible meeting place may be at the CinciClassic > gaming show in Fairfield in April. I'm not affiliated with them in > any ways but I'll have a table there where I'll have my original 800 > up & running along w/ a few other systems. It just seemed like a > natural place to finally have a get together and see some old faces.
> If anyone is interested the CinciClassic web site is > www.cinciclassic.org. The show is April 7th.
>
> -Matthew Knapp
>

I'm still out here.....
Bob aka Cottonmouth back then
>
>
>
>
>
> SPONSORED LINKS
> Personal computer financing
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/gads?t=ms&k=Personal+computer+financing&w1=Personal+computer+financing&w2=Personal+computer+rental&w3=Atari&w4=Personal+computer+security&w5=Personal+computer&w6=Personal+computer+system&c=6&s=159&.sig=aO_BpMm6jiAGZ8QX3JT6GQ>
> Personal computer rental
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/gads?t=ms&k=Personal+computer+rental&w1=Personal+computer+financing&w2=Personal+computer+rental&w3=Atari&w4=Personal+computer+security&w5=Personal+computer&w6=Personal+computer+system&c=6&s=159&.sig=f3Nf-IUL9T9WjIlVl0drxQ>
> Atari
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/gads?t=ms&k=Atari&w1=Personal+computer+financing&w2=Personal+computer+rental&w3=Atari&w4=Personal+computer+security&w5=Personal+computer&w6=Personal+computer+system&c=6&s=159&.sig=Cde6lPC0ivPqR1_1Wc4t1Q>
>
> Personal computer security
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/gads?t=ms&k=Personal+computer+security&w1=Personal+computer+financing&w2=Personal+computer+rental&w3=Atari&w4=Personal+computer+security&w5=Personal+computer&w6=Personal+computer+system&c=6&s=159&.sig=M1T9xCoRIl7RiWirzQcXnw>
> Personal computer
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/gads?t=ms&k=Personal+computer&w1=Personal+computer+financing&w2=Personal+computer+rental&w3=Atari&w4=Personal+computer+security&w5=Personal+computer&w6=Personal+computer+system&c=6&s=159&.sig=SZDw1EG1FETXlSlXadpreA>
> Personal computer system
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/gads?t=ms&k=Personal+computer+system&w1=Personal+computer+financing&w2=Personal+computer+rental&w3=Atari&w4=Personal+computer+security&w5=Personal+comput er&w6=Personal+computer+system&c=6&s=159&.sig=6fhngSSQ9QrI-hYwsenKzA>

>
>
>
> ---
> YAHOO! GROUPS LINKS
>
> * Visit your group "cintari
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari>" on the web.
>
> * To unsubscribe from this group, send an email to:
> cintari-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com
> <mailto:cintari-unsubscribe@yahoogroups.com?subject=Unsubscribe>
>
> * Your use of Yahoo! Groups is subject to the Yahoo! Terms of > Service <http://docs.yahoo.com/info/terms/>.
>
>
> ---
>

225. ACEC Swap Meet

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2006-07-26 19:59:16 UTC
From: colonel_charles
Topic: 216 Message: 225

Well folks, it is getting to that time of year again. The Atari Computer Enthusiasts of Columbus are holding their annual Atari Swap meet and Sale. It is going to be on Saturday September the 9th. It will be at the same time and place as before. For further information please go to acec.atari.org. Hope to see you there 226. ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 03:06:21 UTC
From: peterbilt352
Topic: 226 Message: 226

hey all, I know this board is non active for some time, but I thought I would try and see if anyone still reads here...

Bob

aka Cottonmouth

227. RE: [Cin'tari] ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 03:45:45 UTC
From: Bob Ryan
Topic: 226 Message: 227

I still get the emails.

It's been quite dead for quite some time.

I still have a basement full of Atari stuff. Don't play with the stuff as much as I'd like too though.

-Bob

-----Original Message-----
From: cintari@yahoogroups.com [mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of peterbilt352
Sent: Saturday, April 19, 2008 11:06 PM
To: cintari@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [Cin'tari] ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

hey all, I know this board is non active for some time, but I thought I would try and see if anyone still reads here...

Bob

aka Cottonmouth

No virus found in this incoming message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.2/1386 - Release Date: 4/18/2008 5:24 PM

No virus found in this outgoing message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.2/1386 - Release Date: 4/18/2008 5:24 PM

228. Re: [Cin'tari] ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 04:09:34 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 228

Bob Ryan wrote:
> I still get the emails.
>
> It's been quite dead for quite some time.
>
> I still have a basement full of Atari stuff. Don't play with the stuff as > much as I'd like too though.
>
> -Bob
>
hi Bob, trying to remember who you were . I remember Jeff Wolf? i think that was his name, Dave Pennekamp, , Mike Hill, who started this group..

I have alot of Atari stuff also and yes I wish I had more time to do things with it as well.

Bob

229. RE: [Cin'tari] ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 04:58:49 UTC
From: Bob Ryan
Topic: 226 Message: 229

I was with Cin'tari early on I guess. I remember meetings were held at the First National Bank in Norwood.

I'm an 8-bit fan and when everyone started moving towards the ST line I kinda just faded away. But, I was never really very active within the club.

-Bob

-----Original Message-----
From: cintari@yahoogroups.com [mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of Bob
Sent: Sunday, April 20, 2008 12:10 AM
To: cintari@yahoogroups.com
Subject: Re: [Cin'tari] ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Bob Ryan wrote:
> I still get the emails.
>
> It's been quite dead for quite some time.
>
> I still have a basement full of Atari stuff. Don't play with the stuff as > much as I'd like too though.
>
> -Bob
>
hi Bob, trying to remember who you were . I remember Jeff Wolf? i think that was his name, Dave Pennekamp, , Mike Hill, who started this group..

I have alot of Atari stuff also and yes I wish I had more time to do things with it as well.

Bob

Yahoo! Groups Links

No virus found in this incoming message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.2/1386 - Release Date: 4/18/2008 5:24 PM

No virus found in this outgoing message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.2/1386 - Release Date: 4/18/2008 5:24 PM

230. Re: [Cin'tari] ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 05:06:44 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 230

Bob Ryan wrote:
> I was with Cin'tari early on I guess. I remember meetings were held at the > First National Bank in Norwood.
>
> I'm an 8-bit fan and when everyone started moving towards the ST line I > kinda just faded away. But, I was never really very active within the club.
>
> -Bob
>

well we still supported the 8-bit, we had the 8-bit library still.
also, the ST, and later any format , pc even was accepted , although it was still mostly Atari stuff.

I still like the 8-bit , I started with a Atari 400 computer. then 800xl. I never had the 800, but many say it had the best keyboard. I learned to type on a Atari 400 , with those membrane keys.

I have many magazines for the 8 bit. the Atari computers were special , the beginning of what computers are today. I still like the old computers

Bob

231. RE: [Cin'tari] ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 05:29:56 UTC
From: Bob Ryan
Topic: 226 Message: 231

I wasn't referring to the club specifically. I meant the whole computing world at that time. No need to get defensive. The 8-bits were great but technology advanced and people moved up to the latest and greatest.

I started on the 800XL with a 1050 drive and had a bunch of mags (ANALOG, Antic, Compute!) and books. I sold it all one day and immediately regretted it.

Back in the mid 90's I started acquiring 8-bit stuff again. Now it's a mess in the basement that I need to organize. Eventually I'll get it organized and start playing around with things again.

:-)

-Bob

-----Original Message-----
From: cintari@yahoogroups.com [mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of Bob
Sent: Sunday, April 20, 2008 1:07 AM
To: cintari@yahoogroups.com
Subject: Re: [Cin'tari] ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Bob Ryan wrote:
> I was with Cin'tari early on I guess. I remember meetings were held at the > First National Bank in Norwood.
>
> I'm an 8-bit fan and when everyone started moving towards the ST line I > kinda just faded away. But, I was never really very active within the club.
>
> -Bob
>

well we still supported the 8-bit, we had the 8-bit library still. also, the ST, and later any format , pc even was accepted , although it was still mostly Atari stuff.

I still like the 8-bit , I started with a Atari 400 computer. then 800xl. I never had the 800, but many say it had the best keyboard. I learned to type on a Atari 400 , with those membrane keys.

I have many magazines for the 8 bit. the Atari computers were special , the beginning of what computers are today. I still like the old computers

Bob

Yahoo! Groups Links

No virus found in this incoming message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.2/1386 - Release Date: 4/18/2008
5:24 PM

No virus found in this outgoing message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.2/1386 - Release Date: 4/18/2008
5:24 PM

232. Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 17:21:12 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 226 Message: 232

I'm still here.

How is everyone?

Scott Haynes

AKA King Arthur

Former SysOp - The Round Table BBS (haha, feel like I am 12 years old writing that)

And Former SysOp - Cin'tari BBS for a number of years.

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, "peterbilt352" <ROBO@...> wrote:
>
> hey all, I know this board is non active for some time, but I thought
> I would try and see if anyone still reads here...
>
> Bob
>
> aka Cottonmouth
>

233. Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 19:47:45 UTC
From: ptsweet2000
Topic: 226 Message: 233

I guess I must still be here since these e-mails are showing up. I had all but forgotten this group was still around.

I got rid of all my Atari stuff years ago. The work-a-day world forced me into the Microsoft world.

For those that are still around, do you remeber these:
300 baud modems
BBSs with one phone line
64K memory was awesome
Cassette tape drives - save everything at least twice
Typing in the code from a magazine - then looking for the typo

Bill Duersch (aka Elrond)

234. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 19:55:36 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 234

ptsweet2000 wrote:
>
>
> For those that are still around, do you remeber these:
> 300 baud modems
> BBSs with one phone line
> 64K memory was awesome
> Cassette tape drives - save everything at least twice
> Typing in the code from a magazine - then looking for the typo
>
> Bill Duersch (aka Elrond)
>

hey Bill, I remember you.
I also remember the 300 baud modem, but i was lucky, i started out with blazing 2400 .
the bbs's with 1 phone line. of course. the busy signal. then once you logged on seeing who was just there. Or you find out that YOU were the last one on, and still no new messages.

the good ole tape drive. took forever and anything I ever bought on tape rarely would load. It would beep and beep for half a hour and the last beep would go haywire and nothing.

and yes those Antic magazines and others. Typing forever to see something work. and I didn't have a harddrive. so I lost it all afterI turned the computer off.

those were the days...

Bob
aka Cottonmouth

>
> _

235. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-20 20:04:45 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 235

scotthayka wrote:
>
> I'm still here.
>
> How is everyone?
>
> Scott Haynes
>

hey Scott, nice to see you are still out there. Yeah I know what you mean about the feeling like a kid saying that. haha but it was a good time. I'm trying to remember everyone.. lets see who I can remember

Scott (you)
Bill (Elrond)
Bruce passed away . too bad . good guy
__Bruce__
Charlie Jenkins
Speed Demon (dave) i think
Mike Hill
Dan Stiedham
Doug Ashton
Paul ...from Revelstone ..forgot his last name
Gunboat Mickey
Lanier
Jeff Wolfe
Bob Ashley(cottonmouth) ME :)
some kid who always wore a jacket, even in the summer.. weaver?

so many face, names, Im sure i'll remember more later

Bob aka Cottonmouth

236. [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-22 15:04:36 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 226 Message: 236

I don't know where Mike Hill went, kept up with him until about 2005, haven't heard from him sense, you still out there Mike?? I think he still has his website at www.hillsoftware.com for his projects, I bet he still monitors this group.

Haven't heard from Dan Stidham sense probably 1993 or so, wonder what happened to that guy? He worked at the downtown post office back then, we use to go to Atari shows together for years.

Haven't heard anything from Doug Ashton either in many years.

I wonder what Mickey Halcolmb is up to these days.
Don't forget about Ray Harcourt (Coinman), fellow SysOp. Although I don't remember if he had anything to do with the club or not.

The Weaver guy I believe was Dana Weaver and he went by the handle Gun Weaver, not sure what happened to him either. I picked him up once for a meeting back in the old days at his parents house down off Columbia Parkway. I think he did always wear the 80s fashonable members only jacket all the time.

I thought I remembered hearing that we lost Lanier also a number of years ago, along with maybe Sandman?? If not I apoligize for my memory. I think about Bruce every now and then, I have a client over near where he lived and when I am over by there I remember going to his house with his huge Beta video tape library of black and white movies, he was a really good guy.

Us (former?)geeks should all get together for a beer sometime or something. It's funny, I drove by the bank in Roselawn about a week ago and was thinking about the old club. We should have tried to hack into that safe one of those Sundays we were there in the basement, maybe we could have kept the club going.

Scott

>
> hey Scott, nice to see you are still out there. Yeah I know what you > mean about the feeling > like a kid saying that. haha but it was a good time. I'm trying to > remember everyone.. lets see who I can remember
>
> Scott (you)
> Bill (Elrond)
> Bruce passed away . too bad . good guy
> __Bruce__
> Charlie Jenkins

> Speed Demon (dave) i think
> Mike Hill
> Dan Stiedham
> Doug Ashton
> Paul ...from Revelstone ..forgot his last name
> Gunboat Mickey
> Lanier
> Jeff Wolfe
> Bob Ashley(cottonmouth) ME :)
> some kid who always wore a jacket, even in the summer.. weaver?

237. Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-25 18:19:22 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 226 Message: 237

I'm still around! Have been busy with various things over the last few years and have been pretty uninvolved in anything online.

My mom passed away a couple years ago, and Diana and I decided we were going to build a new house that could hold all our junk and also have room for my father to move in since he was now alone after mom died. The home market hadn't tanked like it has now, so we were lucky we sold our old house and didn't take the hit many are taking now.

I hadn't heard anything about Tom Hesler or Lanier passing away. I had an email exchange with Tom about 4 or so years ago and he was talking about adopting another child. Didn't Lanier try running for mayor of Cincinnati back in 2005? I think this link mentions it. Just search for lanier on the following page.

http://cincymayor.blogspot.com/

It was a shame that Bruce passed away. He was a great guy. I remember his video collection also. I also remember his detailed database where he kept track of his videos and when he last watched each one.

I haven't heard anything from Dan Stidham much after he left Cin'tari.

I had got Doug Ashton a job at a company I use to work at. He was doing I.T. work, but they ended up letting him go. I remember his fascination with the singer Jewel. He had the fan site for her on the internet too. I remember him going around to all the systems he worked on and putting jewel backgrounds images and things on peoples computers at work. He freaked some people out with his love of Jewel! :)

Dana Weaver.. That name always makes me remember the programming Sig at Scott's house where I wrote the fake BBS program there so that when someone called Scott's board it would look like his BBS, but would fake having a glitch and then ask the user if they wanted to format the hard drive. No matter what they answered it would act like it was formatting the hard drive. Poor old Dana was the first caller to call in and you could see the receive light on the BBS modem going crazy while it was faking the disk format. I envisioned him trying to frantically hit CTRL-C or something to stop the format.

Some names that come to mind looking at my old Cin'tari mailing list (still have it). Bill Addington, Scott Hively, David Barker, Jay Braunstein, Jim Caldwell, Paul Collins, Tom Easter, Melvin Hill, Charles Jenkins, John Jones (who I think is still in prison), Clyde Jones, Art Matz, Marshall Mustain, Dave Pennekamp, Ron Perry, Lynn Sigler, Harold Winkler, Jeff Wolfe (who I saw 6 years ago or so at a Red Hat Linux event in Sharonville), and Paul Zigler. Tons more names on the list, but that is a few.

I keep meaning to convert all the old Cin'tari newsletters I have to PDF format. I did one and put it on hear years ago. Yahoo updated their groups and the newsletter is gone from the files section, but the photos I scanned from the midimaze tournament are still here, along with some old scans done with a video digitizer on the ST way back at one of the meetings.

If anyone has any old cin'tari photos, or newsletters they should scan them and send them to me, or snail mail them to me and I can do the scanning. I have pretty much every Cin'tari newsletter from when I took over doing it until the end, but anything earlier than that I am missing.

I remember all those WAACE and MIST shows. I remember all the frantic work we put in making PD disks for MIST in Indy. I remember that last year we had a pretty nice setup where we had three or so systems with all the disks imaged on the hard drive and we used a menu program (flexmenu?) to select the disk to write when someone wanted one, and I wrote a program to dump the images to disk. We had a pretty efficient system down that year. It was nice making them as they were ordered, instead of trying to guestimate what was going to be needed before the show.

With the birth of the internet we have really lost that in person community that Cin'tari had. I definitely miss those times. Nothing better than lugging all our stuff to Roselawn for a meeting!

Still have all my Atari stuff. In the new house I have a room entirely dedicated to my Atari stuff (and some other classic stuff). Have my 7800, 800XL, Mega STE, TT, and Falcon setup in it. Plus the Jaguar and Lynx. Kids come from all over the neighborhood and play all the old classics on the various machines.

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, scotthayka <no_reply@...> wrote:
>
>
> I don't know where Mike Hill went, kept up with him until about 2005, > haven't heard from him sense, you still out there Mike?? I think he > still has his website at www.hillsoftware.com for his projects, I bet > he still monitors this group.
>
> Haven't heard from Dan Stidham sense probably 1993 or so, wonder what > happened to that guy? He worked at the downtown post office back > then, we use to go to Atari shows together for years.
>
> Haven't heard anything from Doug Ashton either in many years.
>
> I wonder what Mickey Halcolmb is up to these days.
> Don't forget about Ray Harcourt (Coinman), fellow SysOp. Although I > don't remember if he had anything to do with the club or not.
>
> The Weaver guy I believe was Dana Weaver and he went by the handle > Gun Weaver, not sure what happened to him either. I picked him up > once for a meeting back in the old days at his parents house down off > Columbia Parkway. I think he did always wear the 80s fashonable > members only jacket all the time.
>
> I thought I remembered hearing that we lost Lanier also a number of > years ago, along with maybe Sandman?? If not I apoligize for my > memory. I think about Bruce every now and then, I have a client over > near where he lived and when I am over by there I remember going to > his house with his huge Beta video tape library of black and white > movies, he was a really good guy.

>
> Us (former?)geeks should all get together for a beer sometime or > something. It's funny, I drove by the bank in Roselawn about a week > ago and was thinking about the old club. We should have tried to > hack into that safe one of those Sundays we were there in the > basement, maybe we could have kept the club going.
>
> Scott

238. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-25 19:04:05 UTC
From: Swumpgas
Topic: 226 Message: 238

gotta stick my dos centavos in

I am still kicking, just pretty busy with Veterans advocacy, suppor, and of course Matt Maupin and, into Motorcycles as much as my knees and back will allow

good to see some old names, sandman was my BBS name, then Metallica did their song and everyone wanted to use sandman.

I was sorry to hear about Bruce also, and he was younger than

I was hoping Atari stuff would have become a collectible, it is, it collects dust

I hope alls kids and wives are OK. Heading out the door now to do a few errands before Matt's funeral this weekend
My boys played soccer with Matt and Mica. good kids, if a kid can be good..

Take care all.
Ex Sandman

hillsoftware <no_reply@yahoogroups.com> wrote: I'm still around! Have been busy with various things over the last few years and have been pretty uninvolved in anything online.

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

239. [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-26 16:58:33 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 226 Message: 239

Hey Tom, it's good to see everyone is still around.

Do you still live in the eastgate area? I bought a house off Shayler about 4-1/2 years ago so I am still in the area.

I assume you are retired from putting people to sleep?

It's very sad about Matt, but I am glad his parents finally have gotten some closure after all these years.

I have seen the prices on Atari stuff on Ebay both high and low, depends on what people are spending their money on at the time I suppose.

Scott

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, Swumpgas <swumpgas@...> wrote:
>
> gotta stick my dos centavos in
>
> I am still kicking, just pretty busy with Veterans advocacy, suppor, and of course Matt Maupin and, into Motorcycles as much as my knees and back will allow
>
> good to see some old names, sandman was my BBS name, then Metallica did their song and everyone wanted to use sandman.
>
> I was sorry to hear about Bruce also, and he was younger than
>
> I was hoping Atari stuff would have become a collectible, it is, it collects dust
>
> I hope alls kids and wives are OK. Heading out the door now to do a few errands before Matt's funeral this weekend
> My boys played soccer with Matt and Mica. good kids, if a kid can be good..
>
> Take care all.
> Ex Sandman
>
>
>
>
> hillsoftware <no_reply@yahoogroups.com> wrote: I'm still around! Have been busy with various things over the last few years and have > been pretty uninvolved in anything online.

>
>
>
> [Non-text portions of this message have been removed]
>

240. Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-26 17:36:24 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 226 Message: 240

Hey Mike. Sorry to hear about your Mom. I think last time we were talking you had just lost Diana's Dad as well.

That's right, that was Dana that we pulled that BBS prank on, I had forgotten about that. I was just sitting here reading that and laughing, my girlfriend walks up, "what's so funny", so I explain it (in detail) to her and she just stands there looking at me and says "I guess you have to have been an Atari geek to get that huh?), oh well.

I haven't talked to Scott Hively in probably almost 7 years now. Hard to believe how fast time flies. Jay Braunstein and I are still close friends, I was just at his house a couple days ago. He lives over near me now, finally broke free of the west side of town and decided to live on the civilized east side.

I am sure I still have boxes of those PD disks probably over in my parents basement. I fell asleep while driving home from that Indy show that one year because I had been up for like two nights copying disks and printing and labeling them, lucky I didn't kill myself.

It's too bad there weren't digital camera back then, we probably would have had a lot of pictures. Those newsletters would be interesting to read though.

I remember the really early days of Cin'Tari before we all were really involved in the club when it was in Norwood with a large packed room and the librarians frantically trying to check everything in and get together everything that people wanted to check out for the following month. I bet there were 50 or so people that would show up for the meetings in those days. That was back before I could drive, I am guessing it was around 1984 or so. I don't really remember going to many of those meetings though. I remember all the formality of the meetings and thinking they were pretty boring. I think the years we ran the club people learned more and were able to interact more and generally have more fun.

We should try to write up the history of the club sometime and get it on here for the history books. I wonder if there is anyone out there reading these messages that was involved with the club (like an officer or something) back in the early days? I am trying to remember what the years were when we got involved in running the club, I guess it was the early 90s?

Drop me an email when you get a chance, interested to hear about what kind of electronic gadgets you are into these days. I ended up buying one of these http://www.dreamarcades.com/3s.shtml, but it is collecting dust because I never finished the mini computer I was putting together for it and never found a menu system I liked well enough. You still messing about with Mame? Still into Mac's?

Scott

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, hillsoftware <no_reply@...> wrote:
>
> I'm still around! Have been busy with various things over the last few years and have > been pretty uninvolved in anything online.
>
> My mom passed away a couple years ago, and Diana and I decided we were going to build > a new house that could hold all our junk and also have room for my father to move in > since he was now alone after mom died. The home market hadn't tanked like it has now, > so we were lucky we sold our old house and didn't take the hit many are taking now.
>
> I hadn't heard anything about Tom Hesler or Lanier passing away. I had an email > exchange with Tom about 4 or so years ago and he was talking about adopting another > child. Didn't Lanier try running for mayor of Cincinnati back in 2005? I think this link > mentions it. Just search for lanier on the following page.
>
> http://cincymayor.blogspot.com/
>
> It was a shame that Bruce passed away. He was a great guy. I remember his video > collection also. I also remember his detailed database where he kept track of his videos > and when he last watched each one.
>
> I haven't heard anything from Dan Stidham much after he left Cin'tari.
>
> I had got Doug Ashton a job at a company I use to work at. He was doing I.T. work, but > they ended up letting him go. I remember his fascination with the singer Jewel. He had > the fan site for her on the internet too. I remember him going around to all the systems > he worked on and putting jewel backgrounds images and things on peoples computers at > work. He freaked some people out with his love of Jewel! :)
>
> Dana Weaver.. That name always makes me remember the programming

Sig at Scott's > house where I wrote the fake BBS program there so that when someone called Scott's > board it would look like his BBS, but would fake having a glitch and then ask the user if > they wanted to format the hard drive. No matter what they answered it would act like it > was formatting the hard drive. Poor old Dana was the first caller to call in and you could > see the receive light on the BBS modem going crazy while it was faking the disk format. I > envisioned him trying to frantically hit CTRL-C or something to stop the format.
>
> Some names that come to mind looking at my old Cin'tari mailing list (still have it). Bill
> Addington, Scott Hively, David Barker, Jay Braunstein, Jim Caldwell, Paul Collins, Tom > Easter, Melvin Hill, Charles Jenkins, John Jones (who I think is still in prison), Clyde Jones,
> Art Matz, Marshall Mustain, Dave Pennekamp, Ron Perry, Lynn Sigler, Harold Winkler, Jeff > Wolfe (who I saw 6 years ago or so at a Red Hat Linux event in Sharonville), and Paul
> Zigler. Tons more names on the list, but that is a few.
>
> I keep meaning to convert all the old Cin'tari newsletters I have to PDF format. I did one > and put it on hear years ago. Yahoo updated their groups and the newsletter is gone from > the files section, but the photos I scanned from the midimaze tournament are still here, > along with some old scans done with a video digitizer on the ST way back at one of the > meetings.
>
> If anyone has any old cin'tari photos, or newsletters they should scan them and send them > to me, or snail mail them to me and I can do the scanning. I have pretty much every > Cin'tari newsletter from when I took over doing it until the end, but anything earlier than > that I am missing.
>
> I remember all those WAACE and MIST shows. I remember all the frantic work we put in > making PD disks for MIST in Indy. I remember that last year we had a pretty nice setup > where we had three or so systems with all the disks imaged on the hard drive and we used > a menu program (flexmenu?) to select the disk to write when someone wanted one, and I > wrote a program to dump the images to disk. We had a pretty efficient system down that > year. It was nice making them as they were ordered, instead of trying to guestimate what > was going to be needed before the show.

>
> With the birth of the internet we have really lost that in person community that Cin'tari > had. I definitely miss those times. Nothing better than lugging all our stuff to Roselawn > for a meeting!
>
> Still have all my Atari stuff. In the new house I have a room entirely dedicated to my Atari > stuff (and some other classic stuff). Have my 7800, 800XL, Mega STE, TT, and Falcon > setup in it. Plus the Jaguar and Lynx. Kids come from all over the neighborhood and play > all the old classics on the various machines.
>
>
>
> --- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, scotthayka <no_reply@> wrote:
> >
> >
> > I don't know where Mike Hill went, kept up with him until about 2005, > > haven't heard from him sense, you still out there Mike?? I think he > > still has his website at www.hillsoftware.com for his projects, I bet > > he still monitors this group.
> >
> > Haven't heard from Dan Stidham sense probably 1993 or so, wonder what > > happened to that guy? He worked at the downtown post office back > > then, we use to go to Atari shows together for years.
> >
> > Haven't heard anything from Doug Ashton either in many years.
> >
> > I wonder what Mickey Halcolmb is up to these days.
> > Don't forget about Ray Harcourt (Coinman), fellow SysOp. Although I > > don't remember if he had anything to do with the club or not.
> >
> > The Weaver guy I believe was Dana Weaver and he went by the handle > > Gun Weaver, not sure what happened to him either. I picked him

up > > once for a meeting back in the old days at his parents house down off
> > Columbia Parkway. I think he did always wear the 80s fashonable > > members only jacket all the time.
> >
> > I thought I remembered hearing that we lost Lanier also a number
of > > years ago, along with maybe Sandman?? If not I apoligize for my > > memory. I think about Bruce every now and then, I have a client over > > near where he lived and when I am over by there I remember going to > > his house with his huge Beta video tape library of black and white > > movies, he was a really good guy.
> >
> > Us (former?)geeks should all get together for a beer sometime or > > something. It's funny, I drove by the bank in Roselawn about a week > > ago and was thinking about the old club. We should have tried to > > hack into that safe one of those Sundays we were there in the > > basement, maybe we could have kept the club going.
> >
> > Scott
>

241. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-27 18:32:25 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 241

scotthayka wrote:

hey Scott, good to see you out there too. I decided to post a message here just to see who was out there. I hadn't seen any activity here for a few years. a beer sounds good, maybe one day this year we can all meet up at the old place to do that. I hope I remember how to get there grin

As for Micky (gunboat) the last I saw him was about 2 years ago, he was ok living in a trailor park here in Ky. He doesn't have internet access, but If we all decide to meet up, I'll try to to bring him along .

I wonder how many of us can make it? So far it looks like about 5 or 6 of us are still talking here.

Bob
aka Cottonmouth
ah those handles

> .
>
>

242. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-28 04:30:34 UTC
From: Swumpgas
Topic: 226 Message: 242

still kicking, just not as high.

remember when I became an official 'sysop" after buying Bit's 'N Bytes I think it was. got all the old ST stuff,a whopping 60MB HD, that Mike helped me rewire, and regular invites to the copyfests of what was then teeny boppers.

good folks, still get tickled when I think about "belboz" suddenly getting religion, and anti piracy. I'm old, I can say things like that, no real disrespect intended (g)

Was proud to be a very small part of getting Matt Maupin home and to rest today, and hopefully his folks can have a normal grieving and healing process.

good to hear from all, I hope all are well. Still the ST and a lot of 8 bit stuff laying around.

gonna go rest my knees and back from yesterday and today.
take care all.
wonder if "Nemisis" ever got a life?

scotthayka <no_reply@yahoogroups.com> wrote: Hey Tom, it's good to see everyone is still around.

Do you still live in the eastgate area? I bought a house off Shayler about 4-1/2 years ago so I am still in the area.

I assume you are retired from putting people to sleep?

It's very sad about Matt, but I am glad his parents finally have gotten some closure after all these years.

I have seen the prices on Atari stuff on Ebay both high and low, depends on what people are spending their money on at the time I suppose.

Scott

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, Swumpgas wrote:
>
> gotta stick my dos centavos in
>
> I am still kicking, just pretty busy with Veterans advocacy, suppor, and of course Matt Maupin and, into Motorcycles as much as my knees and back will allow
>
> good to see some old names, sandman was my BBS name, then Metallica did their song and everyone wanted to use sandman.
>
> I was sorry to hear about Bruce also, and he was younger than

>
> I was hoping Atari stuff would have become a collectible, it is, it collects dust
>
> I hope alls kids and wives are OK. Heading out the door now to do a few errands before Matt's funeral this weekend
> My boys played soccer with Matt and Mica. good kids, if a kid can be good..
>
> Take care all.
> Ex Sandman
>
>
>
>
> hillsoftware wrote: I'm still around!
Have been busy with various things over the last few years and have > been pretty uninvolved in anything online.
>
>
>
> [Non-text portions of this message have been removed]
>

Yahoo! Groups Links

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

243. Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-28 05:43:10 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 226 Message: 243

Gadget wise nothing wild striking my fancy lately. The new house has a media room. So I have a 92inch screen with HD projector and a 7.1 sound system. So movie night is always fun here.

Have the Xbox 360 in the media room too. But I honestly don't play much with it. I never finished Halo 1 on the old xbox, and I started playing it again on the 360 a year or so ago.
Probably half way through it. I may finish the first game by the time Halo 5 is out. Course I enjoy my "delayed" gaming lifestyle. When I buy a game it is in the $9 bargain bin instead of the $60 bin!

I was insane when building this new house. I wanted to make sure every room was wired when it came to network, phone, video, etc. Wireless is nice, but nothing beats 100Mbit and Gigabit ethernet. Especially when moving files, movies, and music from systems to systems.

Gadget wise I did buy an HDHomeRun around the holidays. It is a dual tuner HD box that connects directly to your network. Any computer or device on the network can watch something on one of the two tuners. I have Elgatps EyeTV software on my G5 Powermac and I use it to record shows we like. I edit out the commercials with the EyeTV software and have it export them to divx. It can record two HD streams at a time. The HDHomeRun sends the full HD stream over the network to the PC that wants to view or capture it. So playback is loss-less. You can have multiple HDHomeRuns on a network (I think a 100Mbit can handle 6 HD streams easily, more if you have a switch instead of a hub).

I still use DirecTV for our main TV viewing. We have 6 DVR's here (three are HD) in the house which is mainly for everyone to watch their shows. I use the HDHomeRun on the Powermac to record shows I want to edit commercials out of to keep. Mainly stuff for our little one, but in some cases for shows we don't have time to watch and we don't want them wasting space on the DVR's.

As for MAME cabinets I have redone the control panel on mine a couple times. I use to love the arcadeos mame frontend. Easy to work with and supported multiple emulators. It was DOS based and hasn't been updated much. So I looked for awhile for a replacement.

I have started using Mamewah though and love it as a front end. I don't think there is anything better feature wise and looks wise.

http://mamewah.mameworld.net/screenshots.htm

It supports multiple emulators and you can switch between them easily. Pretty interface with lots of "skins" for the various systems you want to emulate. You can also launch Windows programs through it also. Little tricky to setup, but awesome when you have it all configured.

My favorite OS is probably Linux (running Ubuntu on my laptop). I do really like Mac OS also. My main desktop is still a Powermac Dual G5. Diana has a new Intel Macbook. Still have some Windows systems (3 XP systems). My laptop came with Vista on it and I still have it on there, but I really hate Vista. I shrunk the Vista partition down and used the bulk of the hard drive for Ubuntu. So that laptop boots linux by default, but when I need to I can boot into Vista.

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, scotthayka <no_reply@...> wrote:

> Drop me an email when you get a chance, interested to hear about what > kind of electronic gadgets you are into these days. I ended up > buying one of these http://www.dreamarcades.com/3s.shtml, but it is > collecting dust because I never finished the mini computer I was > putting together for it and never found a menu system I liked well > enough. You still messing about with Mame? Still into Mac's?
>
> Scott

244. [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-28 05:58:13 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 226 Message: 244

Tom,

Glad to hear the reports of your demise were incorrect! :)

Ah the old copyfests. I remember them well. I remember all of us with our fast copy devices that connected to the printer port and the external floppy. Made for some fast duplication.

I remember having copy fests at our first apartment and then at our first house. Seems like ages ago.

I remember all the hoopla in the club after Lanier authorized the purchase of a new hard drive to get the BBS back up (he didn't take it to a club vote). That was early on in my Cin'tari career. I was happy to hand the BBS over to Scott though so I could focus on the newsletter after the previous editor had to quit.

If I remember correctly, after that I was vice-prez when Paul Zigler was the president, and then I did two years as the President and then Scott did a year as president and killed Cin'tari for good. :)

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, Swumpgas <swumpgas@...> wrote:
>
> still kicking, just not as high.
>
> remember when I became an official 'sysop" after buying Bit's 'N Bytes I think it was. got all the old ST stuff,a whopping 60MB HD, that Mike helped me rewire, and regular invites to the copyfests of what was then teeny boppers.
>
> good folks, still get tickled when I think about "belboz" suddenly getting religion, and anti piracy. I'm old, I can say things like that, no real disrespect intended (g)
>
> Was proud to be a very small part of getting Matt Maupin home and to rest today, and hopefully his folks can have a normal grieving and healing process.
>
> good to hear from all, I hope all are well. Still the ST and a lot of 8 bit stuff laying around.
>
> gonna go rest my knees and back from yesterday and today.
> take care all.
> wonder if "Nemisis" ever got a life?

245. Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-29 15:47:22 UTC
From: artmatz52
Topic: 226 Message: 245

Hi all,

I still get the posts via email. I joined the club when it was at First National in Norwood. I think I left the club in the early 90s. What year did the club fold? I still have a functioning Atari 800 and Atari game system, but my Atari ST has a bad power supply.

I had the Dungeon Master for the ST. I use to manually map the levels on graph paper which was time consuming while fighting off the monsters. I got the PC version, and finally finished the game last year.

I use to save all the newsletters, but I threw them all out a few years ago.

Nice hearing from all of you.

Art Matz

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, "peterbilt352" <ROBO@...> wrote:
>
> hey all, I know this board is non active for some time, but I thought
> I would try and see if anyone still reads here...
>
> Bob
>
> aka Cottonmouth
>

246. Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-04-30 18:27:41 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 226 Message: 246

Art,

Nice to hear from you. Been a long time, but I remember you at the meetings.

I did the last newsletter in July of 94. I think Cin'tari died out shortly after that.

I wish I would have thought about getting old newsletters from someone a long time ago. I will scan what I have, but my collection starts at February of 1990. Maybe someone else on here has a collection of them.

Mike

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, "artmatz52" <acmatz@...> wrote:
>
> Hi all,
>
> I still get the posts via email. I joined the club when it was at > First National in Norwood. I think I left the club in the early 90s.
> What year did the club fold? I still have a functioning Atari 800 and > Atari game system, but my Atari ST has a bad power supply.
>
> I had the Dungeon Master for the ST. I use to manually map the > levels on graph paper which was time consuming while fighting off the > monsters. I got the PC version, and finally finished the game last > year.
>
> I use to save all the newsletters, but I threw them all out a few > years ago.
>
> Nice hearing from all of you.
>
> Art Matz

247. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-01 03:15:37 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 247

artmatz52 wrote dungeon master

hey Art,

I remember that game Dungeon Master. what a great game that was! I did the same thing with the graph paper. I seem to remember buying a map someplace that showed everything, but I wanted to finish the game first on my own . It always amazed me how programmers could get that great of a game with such small space and hardware to work with.

When playing that game, I always took Syra as one of my 4 in the group.

Anyone ever play Alternate Reality?

hey Mike, I remember the time I drove to Milford during a approaching storm to get my ST computer from you , after you tried to fix it. we met in the parking lot at night, remember that? I remember seeing the lighting flashing as I drover there.
the things you remember...

Bob

248. [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-01 06:54:55 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 226 Message: 248

Bob,

Yep I remember that night and the storm.

I remember one night I had the ST SIG at my house and the US started their attack against Iraq after they invaded Kuwait. Instead of doing the normal ST SIG we set around and watching the attack on the news.

As for Alternate Reality. I remember it well on the 8-bit. I never played the ST version, but enjoyed the City and Dungeon module on the 8-bit. Quite the game for its time. Great graphics, and sound for an 8-bit title.

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, Bob <ROBO@...> wrote:
>
> Anyone ever play Alternate Reality?
>
> hey Mike, I remember the time I drove to Milford during a approaching
> storm to get my
> ST computer from you , after you tried to fix it. we met in the > parking lot at night, remember > that? I remember seeing the lighting flashing as I drover there.
> the things you remember...
>
> Bob
>

249. Cin'tari Update

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-04 00:17:34 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 249 Message: 249

Hello All,

We have had some recent activity here in the Cin'tari group on yahoo. So if you haven't stopped by yet, please do.

http://cintari.atari.org

Mike Hill

250. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-04 06:15:04 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 250

hey Mike,

as for Alternate Reality try this link

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xyemDydjnP4

and

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=g8lD_DEwAEI&feature=related and look at the links... to the right on youtube. i think you will find them interesting

much also about the Atari 8-bit .

I think the one thing about these old computers and games, that are now old in the computer gaming world, we can compare it to going to a musuem and seeing a old war plane...

a old war plane that no longer flys in combat, but we go to see it and are amazed by looking at it.

the Atari computers and games are our museum and we won't ever forget them.

Bob

251. Re: [Cin'tari] Cin'tari Update

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-05 14:20:34 UTC
From: Swumpgas
Topic: 249 Message: 251

speaking of old and obscure things (besides me)

does anyone have a tractor fed PIN printer (for multi page forms)
that they can sell cheap, or even better DONATE to the Maupin
Yellow Ribbon Center to address the Customs forms to package shipments to the troops?

I might have some old ST goodies laying around to swap.

their old one (IBM memory typewriter) bit the dust and did not interface to a computer anyway.

just like my one tie, if I wait long enough it will come back in style.

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

252. RE: [Cin'tari] Cin'tari Update

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-05 23:42:31 UTC
From: Bob Ryan
Topic: 249 Message: 252

I have an old AMSTRAD LQ-3500 dot matrix printer with a tractor feed. It needs cleaning up and I haven't used it in years. I may have a box of ribbons also.

Did I say it needs cleaning? :-)

If you want it, it's yours. I'm in Pleasant Ridge and I work downtown.

-Bob

-----Original Message-----
From: cintari@yahoogroups.com [mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of Swumpgas
Sent: Monday, May 05, 2008 10:21 AM
To: cintari@yahoogroups.com
Subject: Re: [Cin'tari] Cin'tari Update

speaking of old and obscure things (besides me)

does anyone have a tractor fed PIN printer (for multi page forms) that they can sell cheap, or even better DONATE to the Maupin Yellow Ribbon Center to address the Customs forms to package shipments to the troops?

I might have some old ST goodies laying around to swap.

their old one (IBM memory typewriter) bit the dust and did not interface to a computer anyway.

just like my one tie, if I wait long enough it will come back in style.

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

No virus found in this incoming message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.8/1415 - Release Date: 5/5/2008 6:01 AM

No virus found in this outgoing message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.8/1415 - Release Date: 5/5/2008 6:01 AM

253. RE: [Cin'tari] Cin'tari Update

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-07 13:58:09 UTC
From: Swumpgas
Topic: 249 Message: 253

thanks for the offer, I think it's been taken care of..

Bob Ryan <ryanr@...> wrote: I have an old AMSTRAD LQ-3500 dot matrix printer with a tractor feed. It needs cleaning up and I haven't used it in years. I may have a box of ribbons also.

Did I say it needs cleaning? :-)

If you want it, it's yours. I'm in Pleasant Ridge and I work downtown.

-Bob

-----Original Message-----
From: cintari@yahoogroups.com [mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of Swumpgas
Sent: Monday, May 05, 2008 10:21 AM
To: cintari@yahoogroups.com
Subject: Re: [Cin'tari] Cin'tari Update

speaking of old and obscure things (besides me)

does anyone have a tractor fed PIN printer (for multi page forms)
that they can sell cheap, or even better DONATE to the Maupin Yellow Ribbon Center to address the Customs forms to package shipments to the troops?

I might have some old ST goodies laying around to swap.

their old one (IBM memory typewriter) bit the dust and did not interface to a computer anyway.

just like my one tie, if I wait long enough it will come back in style.

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

No virus found in this incoming message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.8/1415 - Release Date: 5/5/2008
6:01 AM

No virus found in this outgoing message.
Checked by AVG.
Version: 7.5.524 / Virus Database: 269.23.8/1415 - Release Date: 5/5/2008
6:01 AM

Yahoo! Groups Links

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

254. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-27 04:22:53 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 254

hey, where did everyone go? we had some talk then silence.

also Mike, the Alternate Reality for the ST, I had. the graphics were a bit improved but still looked similar. the main difference in the ST version was that you could join the guilds, like you
could with the dungeon.

Bob

255. [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-30 15:53:58 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 226 Message: 255

Everybody else is napping I think. :)

I enjoyed Alternate Reality on the 8-bit. I don't think the ST version ever caught on. I think the ST version was panned by reviewers. It was a game far ahead of its time in size and scope, tis a shame the plans for it never panned out.

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, Bob <ROBO@...> wrote:
>
> hey, where did everyone go? we had some talk then silence.
>
> also Mike, the Alternate Reality for the ST, I had. the graphics > were a bit improved but still > looked similar. the main difference in the ST version was that you could > join the guilds, like you
> could with the dungeon.
>
> Bob
>

256. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: ATARI anyone out there from the old Atari Cintari?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-05-31 18:38:18 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 256

hillsoftware wrote:
>
> Everybody else is napping I think. :)
>
> I enjoyed Alternate Reality on the 8-bit. I don't think the ST version > ever caught on. I think > the ST version was panned by reviewers. It was a game far ahead of its > time in size and > scope, tis a shame the plans for it never panned out.
>

Yes I agree with that. the ST graphics were sharper, example the view inside the taverns , very sharp. also When it would rain it looked more like real rain falling etc, but the 8-BIT version there was something more mysterious about it all, where the graphics were not that important. I liked it better.

At one point recently I was reading online they were going to have a Alternate Reality , the City ONLINE. I saw some pictures of what it would be, then it seemed to fade away again.

I remember the floppy disk, if you turned it backwards and put in the drive, would display a message.. from Phillip Price.. at the end saying God Bless .. did you ever see that?

Bob

257. ATARI

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-08-30 17:39:33 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 226 Message: 257

well everyone, it has been quiet again , the summer i think kept us away.

now the fall is soon and maybe we will all have time to talk more in here.

anyone good at C+ langauge? which is better, C , C+ ???

Bob

Atarian

258. ACEC Swap Meet Update

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-09-04 01:53:07 UTC
From: colonel_charles
Topic: 258 Message: 258

Hi folks, I wanted to step in here and give you folk a quick update on the ACEC Vintage Computer and Video Game Swap Meet being held on Saturday 09-13-08 from 9 am to 3 pm in Columbus Ohio. I found out that the westbound lane of Cooke Rd has been closed for construction between Maize Rd. and I-71. I don't know if this effects the eastbound lane or not. There may be some construction delays. I would suggest that anybody going to the swap meet use the E. N. Broadway exit of I-71. Please see our website at acec.atari.org. for more information about the ACEC Vintage Computer and Video Game Swap Meet. Or you can email me at colonel_charles@.... We are still taking reservations for vendor tables. Also remember that it is FREE!!!! FREE!!! FREE!!!!. Hope to see you there!

.

259. ACEC Swap Meet Update

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2008-09-11 03:23:58 UTC
From: colonel_charles
Topic: 258 Message: 259

Hi folks, I have another update for you for the ACEC 2008 VINTAGE COMPUTER AND VIDEO GAME SWAP MEET
We are going to be holding a Chinese auction / raffle at our swap meet.
Each person who attends will receive 3 raffle tickets, more tickets will be available for 4 for $1. Remember the swap meet will be held Saturday 09-13-08 from 9 am to 3 pm. Please see our web site at acec.atari.org for details. Or you can email me for further information.

260. ACEC Swap Meet 2009

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2009-09-01 01:35:49 UTC
From: colonel_charles
Topic: 260 Message: 260

The Atari Computer Enthusiasts of Columbus will be hosting the ACEC 2009 Vintage Computer and Video Game Swap meet on Saturday 09-12-09 in Columbus Ohio. The show will be Free for dealers as well as shoppers. It will be held at Oakland Park Community Center from 9 am. to 3 pm. We have a new feature this year that will allow dealers to pick out what particular tables they want. Please check out our web site at acec.atari.org for further information and updates.

261. ACEC Swap Meet 2009

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2009-09-01 01:35:48 UTC
From: colonel_charles
Topic: 260 Message: 261

The Atari Computer Enthusiasts of Columbus will be hosting the ACEC 2009 Vintage Computer and Video Game Swap meet on Saturday 09-12-09 in Columbus Ohio. The show will be Free for dealers as well as shoppers. It will be held at Oakland Park Community Center from 9 am. to 3 pm. We have a new feature this year that will allow dealers to pick out what particular tables they want. Please check out our web site at acec.atari.org for further information and updates.

262. Happy Holidays

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2009-12-28 22:35:17 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 262 Message: 262

Happy Holidays to everyone still out there.

Chime in if your still around.

I was thinking maybe it was time to move this group. Either to Facebook, or my own forum on my website (running phpbb).

Thoughts?

263. Re: Happy Holidays

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2009-12-28 22:41:47 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 262 Message: 263

Also wanted to apologize to the three new members it took me a month or so to see and validate for access. I switched hosts for my domain, and my new host is much more aggressive with spam prevention and I wasn't receiving messages from here. Hopefully that is straightened out.

Also to touch a little further on moving from here to facebook or another forum. I have heard rumblings that Yahoo groups may be on the chopping block down the road. Also this isn't the most efficient setup.

Facebook is so popular now that many are using it. It offers a lot of what we can do here.

I have a forum now on my current website, I haven't really done much with it, but I could create some Cin'tari groups on it (general chit chat, 8-bit, ST, Jaguar, etc) and we could use that. Benefit to that is it doesn't require people to sign up for facebook if they don't want, and keeps things a little more private.

Or we can just stay here. Not a lot of activity here, so I am curious who is still out there, and thoughts they have on this subject.

264. Happy Holidays

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2009-12-29 00:28:21 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 262 Message: 264

HEY Mike

I'm still here long live Atari

facebook or whatever sounds cool

Bob

265. RE: [Cin'tari] Happy Holidays

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2009-12-29 01:55:06 UTC
From: Bob Ryan
Topic: 262 Message: 265

I'm here too.

Not real fond of Facebook though

-Bob

-----Original Message-----
From: cintari@yahoogroups.com [mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com] On Behalf Of Bob
Sent: Monday, December 28, 2009 7:28 PM
To: cintari@yahoogroups.com
Subject: [Cin'tari] Happy Holidays

HEY Mike

I'm still here long live Atari

facebook or whatever sounds cool

Bob

No virus found in this incoming message.
Checked by AVG - www.avg.com
Version: 8.5.431 / Virus Database: 270.14.122/2591 - Release Date: 12/28/09 19:32:00

266. Happy Holidays

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2009-12-29 15:04:08 UTC
From: artmatz52
Topic: 262 Message: 266

I'm still here.

It seems like almost everyone has a Facebook account now a days.

If we went to Facebook (assuming Facebook Groups):

Doing a search on Facebook Groups, it says the administrator can email group members. But, I haven't found anything about other members having the capability of emailing the other members like this post will do now. Does anyone know whether you can?

If so, I say go with Facebook.

Art Matz

267. hellllllooo

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-07-30 23:47:40 UTC
From: peterbilt352
Topic: 267 Message: 267

hey all, where is everyone? we were talking in December about moving the group to facebook or something and then silent again.

I still have all my Atari stuff, even though like most of us, us a pc.

the old Atari computers are like a 1955 chevy, old but still good.

stay in touch anyone...

Bob
aka Cottonmouth

remember :
Grog bbs black hole roundtable
what were the others?

268. BBS' listed in email

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-08-01 01:56:54 UTC
From: h d
Topic: 268 Message: 268

H.O.L.E. in Middletown was one that comes to mind, my dad and I ran Chain and Sprocket from Franklin,OH

Miami Valley Ace(aka Cat House run by Smitty Smith), Daytari are a few more I can think of

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

269. Re: hellllllooo

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-08-01 01:57:30 UTC
From: hdayejr2
Topic: 267 Message: 269

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, "peterbilt352" <ROBO@...> wrote:
>
> hey all, where is everyone? we were talking in December about moving the group to facebook or something and then silent again.
>
> I still have all my Atari stuff, even though like most of us, us a pc.
>
> the old Atari computers are like a 1955 chevy, old but still good.
>
> stay in touch anyone...
>
> Bob
> aka Cottonmouth
>
> remember :
> Grog bbs black hole roundtable
> what were the others?
>
H.O.L.E. in Middletown was one that comes to mind, my dad and I ran Chain and Sprocket from Franklin,OH

Miami Valley Ace(aka Cat House run by Smitty Smith), Daytari are a few more I can think of

270. Re: [Cin'tari] BBS' listed in email

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-08-01 05:04:27 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 268 Message: 270

On 7/31/2010 9:56 PM, h d wrote:
>
> H.O.L.E. in Middletown was one that comes to mind, my dad and I ran > Chain and > Sprocket from Franklin,OH
>
> Miami Valley Ace(aka Cat House run by Smitty Smith), Daytari are a few > more I > can think of
>
> [Non-text portions of this message have been removed]
>
>
I remember a few more..
I was co-sysop on Revelstone bbs, owned by Paul Collins.. and I think the very first bbs i was ever on was Turpin Forrest

I know there are more I am not thinking of .

Black Hole bbs was run by a guy named Big Dipper

I am not familiar with H.O.L.E but there was so many bbs's out there.

then later I found myself on ibm bbs's as well .

Bob
aka Cottonmouth

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

271. Re: BBS' listed in email

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-08-01 16:01:51 UTC
From: hdayejr2
Topic: 268 Message: 271

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, Bob <ROBO@...> wrote:
>
> On 7/31/2010 9:56 PM, h d wrote:
> >
> > H.O.L.E. in Middletown was one that comes to mind, my dad and I ran > > Chain and > > Sprocket from Franklin,OH
> >
> > Miami Valley Ace(aka Cat House run by Smitty Smith), Daytari are a few > > more I > > can think of
> >
> > [Non-text portions of this message have been removed]
> >
> >
> I remember a few more..
> I was co-sysop on Revelstone bbs, owned by Paul Collins.. > and I think the very first bbs i was ever on was Turpin Forrest
>
> I know there are more I am not thinking of .
>
> Black Hole bbs was run by a guy named Big Dipper
>
> I am not familiar with H.O.L.E but there was so many bbs's out there.
>
> then later I found myself on ibm bbs's as well .
>
> Bob
> aka Cottonmouth
>
>
> [Non-text portions of this message have been removed]
>

Well, from Franklin, our choices were limited. They just got 25 cent flat calling from Franklin, so you could make one call, and stay on for hours. Cincy was straight long distance, and my dad ordered me not to download anything. Yeah, remember the days of long distance charges(they are pretty much a one era now with local and unlimited long distance plans)? And my cheap dad had a 30 call local plan, so I could only dial them once a day. I got my butt reamed quite a few times for dialing H.O.L.E. excessively.

272. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: BBS' listed in email

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-08-02 19:53:02 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 268 Message: 272

did you ever attend the Cintari meetings? I was there I guess from around 1990-1995 or so until we lost the meeting place.

I remember calling a few bbs's in california. remember those days, file uploads ratios to be able to download stuff, door games. haha
and today the internet. although we did have a few bbs's that were linked with others around the country.. i forget what we called that.
but alot of people were posting messages from different areas.

I was doing screen art of some of the bbs's , mainly with the IGS format that was used on the atari st computers. I did some for a bbs in california, and a few locally.. I did some for revelstone bbs, speedys , roundtable and the one in california. maybe some others, but i can't remember now. i still have atari st with alot of disks. whether any of it works or not , i don't know . I haven't used either in some time.

Bob
Cottonmouth

> >
>
> Well, from Franklin, our choices were limited. They just got 25 cent > flat calling from Franklin, so you could make one call, and stay on > for hours. Cincy was straight long distance, and my dad ordered me not > to download anything. Yeah, remember the days of long distance > charges(they are pretty much a one era now with local and unlimited > long distance plans)? And my cheap dad had a 30 call local plan, so I > could only dial them once a day. I got my butt reamed quite a few > times for dialing H.O.L.E. excessively.
>
>
> Reply to sender
> <mailto:hdayejr2@...?subject=Re:%20BBS%27%20listed%20in%20email>
> | Reply to group
> <mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com?subject=Re:%20BBS%27%20listed%20in%20email>
> | Reply via web post
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/post;_ylc=X3oDMTJvc284bXVjBF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdycEl kAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BG1zZ0lkAzI3MQRzZWMDZnRyBHNsawNycGx5BHN0aW1lAzEyODA2N
zg2MTE-?act=reply&messageNum=271>
> | Start a New Topic
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/post;_ylc=X3oDMTJlMTZhNTJ2BF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdycEl kAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BHNlYwNmdHIEc2xrA250cGMEc3RpbWUDMTI4MDY3ODYxMQ-->
>
> Messages in this topic
> <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/message/268;_ylc=X3oDMTMybWd0aG9vBF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0
BGdycElkAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BG1zZ0lkAzI3MQRzZWMDZnRyBHNsawN2dHBjBHN0aW1lAz

EyODA2Nzg2MTEEdHBjSWQDMjY4>
> (3)
> Recent Activity:
>
>

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

273. Re: BBS' listed in email

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-08-03 14:35:13 UTC
From: hdayejr2
Topic: 268 Message: 273

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, Bob <ROBO@...> wrote:
>
> did you ever attend the Cintari meetings? I was there I guess from > around 1990-1995 or so until we lost the meeting place.
>
> I remember calling a few bbs's in california. remember those days,
> file uploads ratios to be able to download stuff, door games. haha
> and today the internet. although we did have a few bbs's that were > linked with others around the country.. i forget what we called that.
> but alot of people were posting messages from different areas.
>
> I was doing screen art of some of the bbs's , mainly with the IGS > format that was used on the atari st computers. I did some for a bbs in > california, and a few locally.. I did some for revelstone bbs, > speedys , roundtable and the one in california. maybe some others, but > i can't remember now. i still have atari st with alot of disks. whether > any of it works or not , i don't know . I haven't used either in some time.
>
> Bob
> Cottonmouth
>
> > >
> >
> > Well, from Franklin, our choices were limited. They just got 25 cent > > flat calling from Franklin, so you could make one call, and stay on > > for hours. Cincy was straight long distance, and my dad ordered me not > > to download anything. Yeah, remember the days of long distance > > charges(they are pretty much a one era now with local and unlimited > > long distance plans)? And my cheap dad had a 30 call local plan, so I > > could only dial them once a day. I got my butt reamed quite a few > > times for dialing H.O.L.E. excessively.
> >
> >
> > Reply to sender
> > <mailto:hdayejr2@...?subject=Re:%20BBS%27%20listed%20in%20email>
> > | Reply to group
> > <mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com?subject=Re:%20BBS%27%20listed%20in%20email>
> > | Reply via web post
> > <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/post;_ylc=X3oDMTJvc284bXVjBF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdyc
ElkAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BG1zZ0lkAzI3MQRzZWMDZnRyBHNsawNycGx5BHN0aW1lAzEyODA
2Nzg2MTE-?act=reply&messageNum=271>
> > | Start a New Topic
> > <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/post;_ylc=X3oDMTJlMTZhNTJ2BF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdyc
ElkAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BHNlYwNmdHIEc2xrA250cGMEc3RpbWUDMTI4MDY3ODYxMQ-->
> >

> > Messages in this topic
> > <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/message/268;_ylc=X3oDMTMybWd0aG9vBF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdycElkAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BG1zZ0lkAzI3MQRzZWMDZnRyBHNsawN2dHBjBHN0aW1lAzEyODA2Nzg2MTEEdHBjSWQDMjY4>
> > (3)
> > Recent Activity:
> >
> >
>
>
>
> [Non-text portions of this message have been removed]
>
IIRC, Dad and I attended a few of the Cintari meetings around 1986 or so. I didn't realize you all went to 1995 with this gig. That was a long standing group imho. We were selling/donating our Atari stuff around that time.

274. I'm still here.

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-09-01 17:51:36 UTC
From: hillsoftware
Topic: 274 Message: 274

Guys,

I am still here. Have been pretty busy with things, so I dropped the ball in checking up on the site here.

Saw some of the talk about BBS's earlier. Some faves of mine back in the days.

Grog
Roundtable (Scott's board)
Cin'tari
Turpin Forest
Cincinnati Computer Connection

I was surprised we kept Cin'tari going as long as we did. Still miss the old days of lugging an Atari computer to the bank and demoing whatever I had to demo. Things have gotten more global with the internet, but that "in person" factor seems to have dropped off.

I know some of you were interested in getting away from the forum here because of its "weak" feature set. I know others aren't too big a fan of Facebook.

So if you like you guys are welcome to come sign up on my online forum I have on my website. If you signup send me a personal message (PM) and let me know your on there and an old Cin'tari person.

I don't have any area on there, but once some Cin'tari people show up I will create a forum area just for old Cin'tari people to talk. All the current areas are Atari related. I never really publicized the forum, so membership is only a few people I told about it so far. Or others who have found it through search or accident.

My nick on there is the same as it was in the old Cin'tari days (belboz). So drop me a PM if you come over.

http://www.hillsoftware.com/bb

I also support tapatalk on there. So iphone/ipad, android, blackberry and nokia phone users can run an app to give them easy access to the forum while on the go.

http://www.tapatalk.com/

275. Re: BBS' listed in email

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-09-01 18:17:36 UTC
From: brkrdavid
Topic: 268 Message: 275

Bob: I remember the IGS stuff. You did some great screens for me at Speedy's. Unfortunately I lost all my Atari stuff to a basement flood about 5 years back. It was always fun to pull them out from time to time and mess with them...

Dave
Speed Demon

--- In cintari@yahoogroups.com, Bob <ROBO@...> wrote:
>
> did you ever attend the Cintari meetings? I was there I guess from > around 1990-1995 or so until we lost the meeting place.
>
> I remember calling a few bbs's in california. remember those days,
> file uploads ratios to be able to download stuff, door games. haha
> and today the internet. although we did have a few bbs's that were > linked with others around the country.. i forget what we called that.
> but alot of people were posting messages from different areas.
>
> I was doing screen art of some of the bbs's , mainly with the IGS > format that was used on the atari st computers. I did some for a bbs in > california, and a few locally.. I did some for revelstone bbs, > speedys , roundtable and the one in california. maybe some others, but > i can't remember now. i still have atari st with alot of disks. whether > any of it works or not , i don't know . I haven't used either in some time.
>
> Bob
> Cottonmouth
>
> > >
> >
> > Well, from Franklin, our choices were limited. They just got 25 cent > > flat calling from Franklin, so you could make one call, and stay on > > for hours. Cincy was straight long distance, and my dad ordered me not > > to download anything. Yeah, remember the days of long distance > > charges(they are pretty much a one era now with local and unlimited > > long distance plans)? And my cheap dad had a 30 call local plan, so I > > could only dial them once a day. I got my butt reamed quite a few > > times for dialing H.O.L.E. excessively.
> >
> >
> > Reply to sender
> > <mailto:hdayejr2@...?subject=Re:%20BBS%27%20listed%20in%20email>
> > | Reply to group
> > <mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com?subject=Re:%20BBS%27%20listed%20in%20email>
> > | Reply via web post

> > <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/post;_ylc=X3oDMTJvc284bXVjBF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdycElkAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BG1zZ0lkAzI3MQRzZWMDZnRyBHNsawNycGx5BHN0aW1lAzEyODA2Nzg2MTE-?act=reply&messageNum=271>
> > | Start a New Topic
> > <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/post;_ylc=X3oDMTJlMTZhNTJ2BF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdycElkAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BHNlYwNmdHIEc2xrA250cGMEc3RpbWUDMTI4MDY3ODYxMQ-->
> >
> > Messages in this topic
> > <http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/message/268;_ylc=X3oDMTMybWd0aG9vBF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdycElkAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BG1zZ0lkAzI3MQRzZWMDZnRyBHNsawN2dHBjBHN0aW1lAzEyODA2Nzg2MTEEdHBjSWQDMjY4>
> > (3)
> > Recent Activity:
> >
> >
>
>
>
> [Non-text portions of this message have been removed]
>

276. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: BBS' listed in email

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-09-11 02:23:39 UTC
From: Bob
Topic: 268 Message: 276

On 9/1/2010 2:17 PM, brkrdavid wrote:
>
> Bob: I remember the IGS stuff. You did some great screens for me at > Speedy's. Unfortunately I lost all my Atari stuff to a basement flood > about 5 years back. It was always fun to pull them out from time to > time and mess with them...
>
> Dave
> Speed Demon
>
hey Dave, long time no see. glad to see you are still around. yes
I may even still have that stuff on disk if the disks are still good. i have them somewhere. the IGS editor wasn't the easiest to draw with, but i managed . I had fun doing it. sorry for late response, I was away for awhile. I know some of the older members may not even be around anymore. Bill Duerch, (Elrond) i think... i wondered what happened to him.

Bob
Cottonmouth

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

278. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: BBS' listed in email

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2010-09-29 18:31:29 UTC
From: Tony McDonald
Topic: 268 Message: 278

Last meeting I remember being at was in the basement of a bank and watching the Lynx being demoed.

I think the link networks you were thinking of was Freenet

-T.M.

From: Bob <ROBO@fuse.net>
To: cintari@yahoogroups.com
Sent: Mon, August 2, 2010 3:53:02 PM
Subject: Re: [Cin'tari] Re: BBS' listed in email

did you ever attend the Cintari meetings? I was there I guess from around 1990-1995 or so until we lost the meeting place.

I remember calling a few bbs's in california. remember those days, file uploads ratios to be able to download stuff, door games. haha and today the internet. although we did have a few bbs's that were linked with others around the country.. i forget what we called that. but alot of people were posting messages from different areas.

I was doing screen art of some of the bbs's , mainly with the IGS format that was used on the atari st computers. I did some for a bbs in california, and a few locally.. I did some for revelstone bbs, speedys , roundtable and the one in california. maybe some others, but i can't remember now. i still have atari st with alot of disks. whether any of it works or not , i don't know . I haven't used either in some time.

Bob
Cottonmouth

> >
>
> Well, from Franklin, our choices were limited. They just got 25 cent > flat calling from Franklin, so you could make one call, and stay on > for hours. Cincy was straight long distance, and my dad ordered me not > to download anything. Yeah, remember the days of long distance > charges(they are pretty much a one era now with local and unlimited > long distance plans)? And my cheap dad had a 30 call local plan, so I > could only dial them once a day. I got my butt reamed quite a few > times for dialing H.O.L.E. excessively.
>
>
> Reply to sender
> <mailto:hdayejr2@...?subject=Re:%20BBS%27%20listed%20in%20email>
> | Reply to group

> <mailto:cintari@yahoogroups.com?subject=Re:%20BBS%27%20listed%20in%20email>
> | Reply via web post
><http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/post;_ylc=X3oDMTJvc284bXVjBF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdycElk
AzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BG1zZ0lkAzI3MQRzZWMDZnRyBHNsawNycGx5BHN0aW1lAzEyODA2Nz
g2MTE-?act=reply&messageNum=271>
>>
>
> | Start a New Topic
><http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/post;_ylc=X3oDMTJlMTZhNTJ2BF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0BGdycElk
AzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BHNlYwNmdHIEc2xrA250cGMEc3RpbWUDMTI4MDY3ODYxMQ-->
>>
>
>
> Messages in this topic
><http://groups.yahoo.com/group/cintari/message/268;_ylc=X3oDMTMybWd0aG9vBF9TAzk3MzU5NzE0B
GdycElkAzUxNDk5NTAEZ3Jwc3BJZAMxNzA1MTkyMTg4BG1zZ0lkAzI3MQRzZWMDZnRyBHNsawN2dHBjBHN0aW1lAzE
yODA2Nzg2MTEEdHBjSWQDMjY4>
>>
>
> (3)
> Recent Activity:
>
>

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

[Non-text portions of this message have been removed]

279. ACEC Swap Meet 2012

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2012-07-23 14:59:14 UTC
From: colonel_charles
Topic: 279 Message: 279

The Atari Computer Enthusiasts of Columbus will be holding their swap meet on Saturday August 25 2012 in Columbus Oh. This is for the buying, selling and trading of all vintage, retro computer and video games systems, software, and accessories. Please visit acec.atari.org for further details

280. Fw:

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2012-10-30 08:19:25 UTC
From: Tony McDonald
Topic: 280 Message: 280

http://toutcontresida.me.pn/site_nbc.php?o=e7i0f1h1k5

281. It's 2014, anyone still alive out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2014-09-20 06:13:46 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 281 Message: 281

I was up late watching a documentary on B.B.S's and while looking for something on Google it hit on this group. I thought I would post something since it has been a couple years at least since anyone posted on here.

282. Re: It's 2014, anyone still alive out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2014-09-21 05:24:40 UTC
From: Bob Ashley
Topic: 281 Message: 282

I'm still out here and alive. grin Bob Ashley. you remember me I'm sure Scott. I was doing that art work for many of the bbs's when the Atari Igs came out. Dana Weaver was also doing them. It was cool, people who never were on the bbs's missed a good thing. I think I was the last sergeant of arms. on the boards that accepted handles, I was Cottonmouth.

I wonder what happened to Dave Penekamp, , Jeff Wold. I know Bruce Rudesil passed away.

but I'm still h ere Scott.

283. Re: It's 2014, anyone still alive out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2014-09-21 05:43:02 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 281 Message: 283

Yeah, of course I remember you.

Good to hear from you. Are you on Facebook?

Not sure how many of these guys you knew, but I still keep in touch with Jay Braunstein and Scott Hively, also Ray Harcourt is on Facebook (Sysop of Treasure Island), and Tim Mills who was the Sysop of Bugs Board (went down before my BBS was up, I bought one of the first modems for Round Table from him).

I met up with Tom Hessler years ago, but haven't kept in touch.

Not sure what happened to everyone else, would be interesting to know.

The old Round Table phone line still has a computer attached to it (well, a virtual fax anyway).

284. Re: It's 2014, anyone still alive out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2014-09-21 05:55:50 UTC
From: Bob Ashley
Topic: 281 Message: 284

hey Scott, I remember a lot about Cintari. hard to believe now, that was almost 30 years ago. scary. I remember Tort- Charles Jenkins. do you still talk to Mike Hill? there was Paul Collins, that ran Revelstone bbs. yeah thats Cool that you still have the bbs running. I mean I understand. There are bbs's on the internet, but as you know, they dont capture that great time we all had back then.

I wonder what happened to Dan Stidham. I remember he got busted about the drugs. The other guy, uh Doug Ashton? Im not sure I am getting the name right. I think you were friends with him , going to Atari events etc.

I have Facebook, look for robo@... and I think you will find me. Robert Ashley. I have about 850 friends. Most of them are Vietnamese. I found a lot of interest with the people there and I worked with some here. They are very friendly people, so I teach many of them English. :)

Bob

285. Re: It's 2014, anyone still alive out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2014-09-21 06:14:00 UTC
From: scotthayka
Topic: 281 Message: 285

I don't have the BBS running, I have the phone number still but it is a fax number.

The BBS is somewhere in my parents basement rotting on an old full height 5-1/4" 500mb hard drive (MFM interface if I remember correctly).

Haven't talked to Mike in probably over a decade.

I think the last time I talked to Dan was when he almost got Jay and I arrested on our way to the 1994 summer CES show in Chicago when he had drugs in his glove compartment and we were pulled over and all searched. Is that what you were remembering or was there something else?

Haven't talked to Doug Ashton in probably 20 years, he and Mike worked together for a while was the last I heard about him.

I am in the middle of watching BBS: The Documentary http://www.bbsdocumentary.com/

http://www.bbsdocumentary.com/

BBS: The Documentary http://www.bbsdocumentary.com/ "A Truly Fascinating Documentary." - Film Threat

View on www.bbsdocumentar... http://www.bbsdocumentary.com/
Preview by Yahoo

It is pretty interesting, but the guy that made it is really difficult to order from, took me like half a year to actually get it.

---In cintari@yahoogroups.com, <ROBO@...> wrote :

hey Scott, I remember a lot about Cintari. hard to believe now, that was almost 30 years ago. scary. I remember Tort- Charles Jenkins. do you still talk to Mike Hill? there was Paul Collins, that ran Revelstone bbs. yeah thats Cool that you still have the bbs running. I mean I understand. There are bbs's on the internet, but as you know, they dont capture that great time we all had back then.

I wonder what happened to Dan Stidham. I remember he got busted about the drugs. The other guy, uh Doug Ashton? Im not sure I am getting the name right. I think you were friends with him , going to Atari events etc.

I have Facebook, look for robo@... mailto:robo@... and I think you will find me. Robert Ashley. I have about 850 friends. Most of them are Vietnamese. I found a lot of interest with the people there and I worked with some here. They are very friendly people, so I teach many of them English. :)

Bob

286. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: It's 2014, anyone still alive out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2014-09-21 06:27:52 UTC
From: Bob Ashley
Topic: 281 Message: 286

On 9/21/2014 2:14 AM, scotthayka wrote:
>
> I don't have the BBS running, I have the phone number still but it is > a fax number.
>
ah yes I understand what you were saying about the old bbs. Mickey, Gunboat, i used to talk to him back in those days, but after his wife died, his dog was killed by neighbors, his dad took his kids to Tennesee, in about a 3 weeks time... wow I dont know how he kept his sanity. I seen him another time at the Salt Festival at Big Bone park. He was selling some things. That festival is in October. Long time since I heard from him.

yes I know you and Doug hung out, and I remember the Chicago incident. You and Mike Hill were telling me about that several years ago if you remember. i WAS really shocked to hear that about him. i would have never known about Cintari, or probably even bbss if it Hadnt been for him. I met him at a book store where I was reading a Atari Explorer magazine. He started talking to me , and the rest was history.

If I ever hit the lottery, I would build a new building and bring Cintari back . Remember that game we played... what was it called .....ah Midi Maze. that was really funny.

I thought you and Mike were close friends. Its funny how people just lose track of each other. You seem to be a night owl like me. I am often up until the sun rises. So if you get tired of answering back and fourth, no problem, but I am here just watching videos on Youtube. Youtube is so cool. All the videos there about Atari you can find also.

I have a PC desktop of course now. I like playing the graphic heavy games. Some online games, such as Battlefield 2 and 3 .

Bob

287. Re: [Cin'tari] Re: It's 2014, anyone still alive out there?

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2015-11-22 14:24:36 UTC
From: Tony McDonald
Topic: 281 Message: 287

Yep. Still check periodically

On Sunday, September 21, 2014 2:27 AM, "Bob Ashley ROBO@... [cintari]" <cintari@yahoogroups.com> wrote:

  On 9/21/2014 2:14 AM, scotthayka wrote:

  I don't have the BBS running, I have the phone number still but it is a fax number.

ah yes I understand what you were saying about the old bbs. Mickey, Gunboat, i used to talk to him back in those days, but after his wife died, his dog was killed by neighbors, his dad took his kids to Tennesee, in about a 3 weeks time... wow I dont know how he kept his sanity. I seen him another time at the Salt Festival at Big Bone park. He was selling some things. That festival is in October. Long time since I heard from him.

yes I know you and Doug hung out, and I remember the Chicago incident. You and Mike Hill were telling me about that several years ago if you remember. i WAS really shocked to hear that about him. i would have never known about Cintari, or probably even bbss if it Hadnt been for him. I met him at a book store where I was reading a Atari Explorer magazine. He started talking to me , and the rest was history.

If I ever hit the lottery, I would build a new building and bring Cintari back . Remember that game we played... what was it called .....ah Midi Maze. that was really funny.

I thought you and Mike were close friends. Its funny how people just lose track of each other. You seem to be a night owl like me. I am often up until the sun rises. So if you get tired of answering back and fourth, no problem, but I am here just watching videos on Youtube. Youtube is so cool. All the videos there about Atari you can find also.

I have a PC desktop of course now. I like playing the graphic heavy games. Some online games, such as Battlefield 2 and 3 .

Bob

288. HELLO ALL

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2015-11-22 14:38:41 UTC
From: Bob Ashley
Topic: 288 Message: 288

Hey everyone, I guess there are not to many of us looking at the old Atari bbs things these days. but what fun it was.

I remember the games, how many remember ALTERNATE REALITY? what a game that was! it came out on the Atari ST, but someone it seemed to lose some of its character.. the music wasn't as good in the taverns.. just lacking something... too bad the whole thing was never completed.. I'm sure Phillip Price had in his mind how it would all go with things such as the PALACE, the FOREST and some others. graphics weren't great, but wow it was good enough to make your mind feel like you were really there.....

289. Re: [Cin'tari] HELLO ALL

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2015-11-22 14:46:52 UTC
From: Tony McDonald
Topic: 288 Message: 289

I still play SunDog: Frozen Legacy (with an emulator). It was my favorite game outside of the original arcade games PacMan and Donkey Kong.

Technology is a fickle fiend. Things improve, get faster, but a little bit is lost in the "improvement".We have more today then ever before, but IMO we are doing less with it and don't have the same "connection" we once had.
That's why we have fond memories of the past, I think.Sometimes I wish we still were in that time

On Sunday, November 22, 2015 9:38 AM, "Bob Ashley ROBO@... [cintari]" <cintari@yahoogroups.com> wrote:

Hey everyone, I guess there are not to many of us looking at the old Atari bbs things these days. but what fun it was.

I remember the games, how many remember ALTERNATE REALITY? what a game that was! it came out on the Atari ST, but someone it seemed to lose some of its character.. the music wasn't as good in the taverns.. just lacking something... too bad the whole thing was never completed.. I'm sure Phillip Price had in his mind how it would all go with things such as the PALACE, the FOREST and some others. graphics weren't great, but wow it was good enough to make your mind feel like you were really there.....

290. Re: [Cin'tari] HELLO ALL

Yahoo group: cintari
Date: 2015-11-24 19:12:32 UTC
From: Bob Ashley
Topic: 288 Message: 290

On 11/22/2015 9:46 AM, Tony McDonald mcdinoh@... [cintari] wrote:
> I still play SunDog: Frozen Legacy (with an emulator). It was my > favorite game outside of the original arcade games PacMan and Donkey > Kong.
>
> Technology is a fickle fiend. Things improve, get faster, but a little > bit is lost in the "improvement".
> We have more today then ever before, but IMO we are doing less with it > and don't have the same "connection" we once had.
>
> That's why we have fond memories of the past, I think.
> Sometimes I wish we still were in that time
>
>
>
>
> On Sunday, November 22, 2015 9:38 AM, "Bob Ashley ROBO@...
> [cintari]" <cintari@yahoogroups.com> wrote:
>
>
> Hey everyone, I guess there are not to many of us looking at the old > Atari bbs things these days. but what fun it > was.
>
> I remember the games, how many remember ALTERNATE REALITY? what a > game that was! it came out on the Atari ST, but > someone it seemed to lose some of its character.. the music wasn't as > good in the taverns.. just lacking something... > too bad the whole thing was never completed.. I'm sure Phillip > Price had in his mind how it would all go with things such as > the PALACE, the FOREST and some others. graphics weren't great, but > wow it was good enough to make your mind feel like you > were really there.....
>
>
>
I agree with you. yes the computers improved, memory, harddrive space is crazy these days..

but it was amazing with such little room to work with the, the games they could come up with . as I said Alternate Reality was my favorite and there were other Cintari members that said the same. Dave Pennekamp, aka Jolly Roger.. said so. he was the average height, older man with the long beard and not much hair on top. he wore glasses. I have not heard from him in a long time.

but I agree.. look at what we had with the Cintari Group.. I wonder if we would still be there today if we had not lost the basement at the bank? I wonder sometimes why they kicked us out. I remember a door being opened down there with a bunch of items in there.. it was open, I wondered if they blamed us for that.. because we were kicked out right after that. like we broke in there or something, I always wondered about that.

but the group was great, the computers were great.. all the cool things , that were new and exciting to us.. today.. it's all understood.. powerful programs, we all get on the internet and not as much communication with each other..

the Cintari group was great and all the members were great and unique.. there are a few of us left that still respond to this group, but not to many. I know Bruce died and I'm not sure about all the others.

it's good to see you respond here, at least there are a few of us out there.

LONG LIVE the ATARI FOREVER! AND CINTARI !

Bob
aka Cottonmouth